

The President's Plans Tainted Football Sunshine, Diet, Thought Another Big Airboat

President Hoover's plan for a great system of inland waterways realizes in prospect, the hope of those that welcomed an able engineer to the White House.

Total expenditures planned will amount to $525,000,000 and every dollar spent will pay for itself ten times over.

The President observes that the annual increase in expenditures will amount only to the cost of one-half of one battleship.

The President might have added that in modern war the whole of one battleship would be worth less than one-half of 10 cents, since battleships are now merely targets for submarines and airplanes, worth nothing, except to battleship builders.

The Carnegie foundation says college football is 'tainted with money.' Free teaching and cash bonuses are given to young men that can kick hard run fast and tackle savagely.

It would be more pleasing if colleges sought great teachers as eagerly as they seek great quarterbacks.

But no great harm is done. The games and great crowds arouse young men's interest in college life and give college education to young men from rolling mills and rear ends of ice wagons, that might otherwise remain uneducated.

Miss Mary Garden, still very young returns to America weighing only 116 pounds. Her prescription is 'diet,' thinking and sunshine.

The diet is meager, hardly enough for a few canary birds. Sunshine abundant. Thinking, doubtless, very deep.

To weigh 116 pounds is not important. But if all of us imitated Mary Garden, ate less and thought more, civilization would progress rapidly.

Progress in flying advances rapidly in Europe. A few days ago Germans showed a gigantic hydroplane with 12 engines, flying, carrying 169 passengers and crew.

Great Britain is building a plane of the same size (a triplane instead of a biplane, also with 12 engines, to go faster.

Henry Ford was the first to talk about a 12-engined plane 'to carry 100 people, with a machine shop on board.' The Germans and the British build the planes.

The Swiss parliament, elected by a moral and serious nation, proposing a law to punish blasphemy, suggests six months in prison for those that 'orally or in writing insult God.'

Blasphemy should be punished because it sets a bad example and shows want of respect for the feelings of others.

But is it possible for any two-legged human microbe on this planet 'to insult God'?

If the mice proposed to punish any mouse insulting Edison, you would say, 'Mice don't worry, you can't insult Edison.'

How much less can any man insult the Creator of the Universe?

The nation read with affectionate sympathy of Mr. Edison's visit to Dearborn, where Henry Ford has rebuilt as it was in old days the simple Edison laboratory to which men owe so much.

Mr. Edison was deeply moved when he saw his old tools, the chair in which he sat in his early youth, his primitive paraphernalia reassembled as used 50 years ago when he developed the idea that now lights the world.

Every old man can share Mr. Edison's emotions. The human heart is the same with or without genius to lend it a great name.

A million among those that see this column carry with them memories of youth—a shellbark hickory tree standing alone in the field; a grove of chestnut trees with yellowish green burrs open, showing the brown nuts within; a pond that held 'shiners' and catfish; a swimming hole—happy memories of a free life and boundless hope.

Mr. Kingsbury, head of Standard Oil of California, cuts prices he pays for California oil from 50 to 75 cents a barrel, an excellent plan to prevent the reckless outpouring of oil and waste of gas.

Mr. Kingsbury says: 'There is being blown into the air in California 900,000,000 cubic feet of gas every day.'

The fuel value of this gas equals 132,000 barrels of oil every day.

Reckless squandering of our oil reserves and waste of gas allowed to escape into the air are a disgrace to the common sense of this country.

'Early this season when screen grid became common talk and it became evident that some of the prominent set manufacturers would feature the screen grid tube, the Grigsby-Grunow Company made up a sample for use with the screen grid tubes, and on comparison of sets we found that our present chassis was far superior to anything that we could build, and for

CHANTS HERE

It was learned here today that Caldwell would probably send the largest delegation in recent years to the game in Cameron. Cameron is matching the spirit of Caldwell and will give the local team a large attendance and support.

The game will be played on the athletic field north of the school campus where seats have been provided for some 2000 people. Both teams are strong. The Cameron team is said to be the strongest team in recent years and the Yoemen will fight for the district championship.

MALLY OPENED HERE ON OCTOBER 24TH

The formal opening of the Citizens National Bank was held Thursday night, October 24 with the largest number of people attending ever to gather for a similar event in Cameron. Thousands of people visited the bank and many messages of congratulations were received from over the United States.

Upon entering the bank, the guests were ushered down the receiving line as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Oxsheer Smith, Mrs. H. F. Smith Sr., Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Henderson Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Newton.

They were next escorted from the front office back to the teller's cage where Assistant Cashier, Lester Williams, demonstrated the automatic coin changing machines and allowed the customers to make their own change by pushing a button. Of special interest to the customers was the currency coming from the U. S. Government in sheets with six bills to the sheet, all signed but not cut apart. The privacy of the teller's cage was explained. A customer may make a deposit and one standing by his side cannot see the money counted or now much he has deposited.

Further on down the banking room, they reached a department, presided over by Assistant Cashier, Ladis Marek and assisted by Alvin Nolte, and were shown the bookkeeping machines that add and subtract by extending balances and automatically carrying the total of the checks and deposits posted as well as the new balances. At the end of the day's business, by pushing a lever, the total is given for each of the items and the work provided by a single movement.

They were next escorted to the book vault where the records of the bank are kept, stationery and supplies, and the filing system where each customer (continued on last page)

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. BENJAMIN HOWELL

90 YEAR OLD MOTHER SLEEPS IN QUIET CEMETERY AT TANGLEWOOD

Funeral services for 'Mother' Howell (Mrs. Benjamin A. Howell) were held Saturday afternoon at one o'clock from the First Methodist church with Rev. P. T. Ramsey officiating, assisted by Rev. E. S. Hutcherson of the First Baptist church and Rev. J. Hardigree of the Christian church.

Mother Howell was ninety years old on October 5 of this year. She was ill on her birthday, but her children and grandchildren came from far and near to be with her then and pay their reverence for her life as she had lived it. In a few well chosen words at the funeral, Rev. Ramsey likened her to a leaf which, when it is in the yellow, must fall.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Lee. Her mother's maiden name was Helen Flowers Yeats, and her father was a cousin to General Robert E. Lee. Mother Howell remembered many times that she sat on the knee of her distinguished relative. In 1857 she was married to Benjamin A. Howell and in 1874 they moved to Texas. Fourteen children were born to the union, ten of whom survive her. In her early childhood Mother Howell joined the Methodist church and she worshipped in that faith until her death. For the past several years she has made her home in Cameron with her son, T. A. Howell.

Besides her children, Mother Howell had 65 grandchildren and 36 great-grandchildren, making a total of 115 direct descendants.

Pall bearers were six grandsons, Albert Howell of Childress, Hilton Howell of Waco, Robert (Johnnie) Jones of San Antonio, Warren Herndon of Cameron, Howell Jones of San Antonio and Homer Morris of San Antonio.

Children surviving her are J. O. Howell of Childress, D. W. Howell of Emory, Frank Howell of Hamilton, Emory Howell of Big Springs, and T. A. Howell of Cameron; Mrs. Mortie Rouse of Austin, Mrs. Will Morris of Yoakum, Mrs. T. E. Wooten of Thorndale, Mrs. J. A. Smelscher of Hainesville, La., and Mrs. W. C. Herndon of Cameron. All of these were present for the funeral except J. O. Howell of Childress and Emory Howell of Big Springs.

Interment was made in the Tanglewood Cemetery, Green Brothers in charge of arrangements.

WHAT WE THINK

By FRANK DIXON

Much of the bootleg liquor is poison yet I don't think there is much danger of bad whiskey killing good men.

These golfing liars have the advantage over the fishing variety. They can't be expected to show their proof.

An Atlanta telephone girl is reported to have been divorced three times. Guess she isn't able to take her rings seriously.

Winfield, Kansas, is one town where they charge calliope operators $10 a day and let saxophone players off with nothing.

Really now how much of a dumbbell is 'Dumb' and how much is 'Belle'? New sign for an old flivver, 'Follow me for Ford parts.'

Taxes are the salvation of the country. People are kept busy paying them. Just so the money is spent for something worth while and not for building pyramids or feasting Belshazzars.

Some of the leaders over in Europe are working on a plan for the United States of Europe. I thought of that 40 years ago, but no one asked me.

Our idea of there being too many fools on earth applies there. It could be done if it were not for the fools over there, but eliminate all of them and there would be a dearth of people. However, if there are enough wise men in Europe the thing can be done. Just two or three dozen wise men could fix Europe so it would be going strong as a united country instead of a lot of small states with high tariff walls around each of them and trying to cut each others throats.

We really could write a good column if it were not for Anjenette who gets up about the time we get started and wants to know why breakfast is not ready.

The other fellow does not think much of you unless you fall for his game.

If you expect anyone to meet you with a smile and a handshake, and feel real interested in your welfare, owe him a lot of money.

This great country of ours preaches Christianity and practices about everything else, and the public stands for it, because the average voter has the ideas as our legislators right now. The big row now in our U. S. Senate is for a higher tariff and tariff of all kinds were caused for most of our wars and will be again. The most outrageous crime of nations is high tariff walls, but human beings, because of their infernal, supreme selfishness are obsessed with the idea that they can rob the other fellow indefinitely and get away with it.

Ramsey and Hoover have worked hard for world peace, but their work will be a mere 'scrap of paper' when the 'time comes.'

Ed Howe says that there are no wise men and we agree with him. If there had been, there would be no wars. Occasionally men show a little wisdom and a few are wiser than others. Most of the wisdom displayed by men is never recognized until after they are dead and gone.

In these days of endurance records let us suggest the following long run artists:

the Gold Dust Twins, liver and onions, fines and costs, fair and warmer, Maggie and Jiggs, fat and forty, for better and for worse, wine, women and song.

Another instance of legislative folly is the recent convicts' revolt at Canyon City, Colorado. There was a time when Colorado used the convicts to build roads, but some fool got the idea that convicts should be confined to their cells and so Colorado decided that they would let someone else build the roads and as the convicts had nothing to do they created something, just as you and I would do under like circumstances.

Anyway there is poetic justice in letting highwaymen work on the highways.

The Pathfinder observes that in diplomatic circles your standing seems to not be so important as your sitting.

Worth Saving

Amid the cheers of the frightened bystanders the young man leaped into the lake, swam to the drowning girl and brought her to the shore.

'Such bravery,' remarked an elderly woman effusively. 'It was wonderful.'

The hero blushed. 'Say!' he ejaculated. 'She swiped my fraternity pin from the Sheba yesterday. I hadda get it didn't I?'

Easy Starting Is Chevrolet Feature For Cold Weather

Detroit, Oct. 30.—To many automobile owners 'cold weather driving' and 'hard starting' are synonymous.

It is true that an engine does not start as easily in Winter as in Summer, but a little care on part of the owner will go a long way toward minimizing the difficulty, Chevrolet Motor Company engineers point out.

Since the inception of the Chevrolet car more than eighteen years ago, company engineers have been applying themselves to the problem of easier starting.

Making use of the 'cold room' facilities of the General Motors Research laboratories and working for hundreds of days in zero weather at the General Motors Proving Ground, Chevrolet technical men have been attacking the 'cold motor' problem for many years.

In considering the case of the car that is difficult to start in cold weather, Chevrolet engineers call attention first to the rather obvious fact that an engine in good condition will perform all its functions, including starting, more satisfactorily than one that is out of adjustment.

The principal parts which have a direct bearing on the starting of an engine are: Battery, starting motor, carburetor, spark plugs, ignition system and valves.

As the efficiency of the battery is materially reduced in cold weather, it should be given great consideration. If the electrical system is weak, complete combustion cannot be obtained, therefore, before the start of winter, it is good preventative insurance to have some reputable electrical service station check over the battery, spark plugs and entire ignition system.

The starting motor very seldom causes trouble.

The carburetor must be adjusted properly for the winter and choke and throttle controls connected properly.

The spark plugs are equipped with two electrodes set in such a manner that the electrical current must jump across a small gap from one to the other. In making this jump, a spark occurs. It is this spark that ignites the mixture of gasoline and air in the combustion chamber of the cylinder. The size of the gap between the electrodes affects the type of spark produced. It is, therefore, important that this gap should be inspected for proper adjustment.

Obviously the spark plugs should be cleaned; and the terminals of the spark plug wires firmly attached. If the plugs have been in use 10,000 miles they should be replaced.

The ignition system, including all wiring and terminals should be checked at the beginning of winter, particular attention being paid to the distributor timing and to condition of the contact points.

If the valves do not seat properly, a leakage of compression occurs resulting in incomplete combustion which hinders starting and also tends to foul the spark plugs.

Attention to these suggestions will eliminate your starting troubles this winter and cut down the wear and tear on your nerves as well, according to the Chevrolet engineering division.

Chas. F. Niehaus Died Suddenly In Canadian Home

Colonel Chas. F. Niehaus, age 67, former prominent Rockdale citizen, died last Wednesday at Kitchener, Ont., Canada, following an operation in a Kitchener hospital.

News of his death came in the form of a telegram to Hon. J. W. Garner Thursday, but was confined to the simple statement that death came suddenly. However, it was known that Col. Niehaus was suffering from tumor of the bladder, and that he was in a more or less serious condition.

Colonel Niehaus came to Rockdale from Canada twelve or fifteen years ago and acquired considerable property, including a large tract of land on which the shallow oil field was developed. He returned to Canada about two years ago, but still retained many of his local interests. News of his death will be received with regret by many friends made here during his period of citizenship.—Rockdale Reporter.

Friday Bridge Club With Mrs. Fahrendorf

Members of the Friday Bridge Club were guests last week of Mrs. F. C. Fahrendorf, who named as honoree her house guest, Mrs. X. B. Saunders of Waco. Other than club members were Mrs. S. Kestenbaum and Mrs. Dan Legacy of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. Awards were presented to Mrs. R. Thomas for high score and Mrs. T.

S. Henderson Jr., for low, and Mrs. Saunders was remembered with a gift. On trays centered with cleverly fashioned boots in Halloween design and filled with yellow marigolds, the hostess offered a collation of salad and coffee with a dessert course of ice cream served in pumpkin holders. The table centers were given as cuts.

A NIGHT OUTDOORS

By Roy Baskin

Have you ever been on an all night hike, or any other hike or picnic in the woods on which you stayed all night? Last Friday, Boy Scout Troop No. 32 went on an all night hike and we certainly had lots of fun. We were to be at the church at five o'clock but didn't get started until after five-thirty. When we got to the river, Benny Archer, our Scoutmaster, 'Yeak' Adams, Jack Moore, 'Dubb' Shipp and I went in swimming. A little later on we went down a steep bank to put out some fishing lines. Very wet with dew was the grass. At a particularly steep place all of a sudden down slid I and just stopped six inches from the edge of a miniature cliff about six feet above some very deep water. There were twelve boys on the hike, seven of whom had put up their cots together. The other five had put their cots up a little way off. I was in the camp that had seven boys. We heard the other boys talking about raiding our camp that night whereupon we immediately made a barricade of tables and chairs. However, hostilities were begun before bedtime, for the others carried out their threat. The Scoutmaster soon settled that and we had supper which consisted of bacon, eggs, wieners, bread, cheese and pickles. Every once in a while during the night some one from the other camp would disturb us and, all in all, I got exactly thirty minutes of sleep. We got up in the morning at four-thirty, although we had been awake four hours. Out of bed crawled all of us excepting Giles who maintained he wanted to get some sleep. I had a pretty good time but I was so tired I nearly 'died' Saturday. Mother forbids me to go on any more all night hikes unless I caught more sleep.

SLEEPING OUTDOORS

Clayton Sapp

Sleeping out is great fun if you like it. One time Ernest, F. E. and I slept out down at Ernest's house. At first, seeing a small light down near the railroad tracks, we proceeded to go down there we found a fire which we put out. After getting back on my cot the last thing I knew was Ernest and F. E. studying astronomy. It is a very good thing I had on my pajamas for when I awoke in the morning a cow had her head under the wire that was stretched around us and was 'munching' the paper in which they had been wrapped.

TREATMENT OF TEXTBOOKS

kept in the best of order. There are two reasons why they should be kept thus. The first one is: the books are not your own, because they are provided by the state. The second one is: the one who gets the books after you, should have the same chance with a nice clean book as you.

Various ways are provided by the school to protect the books. The school or some store in town will buy the book covers to keep the wear and tear from the books. The state also will put new backs on the books if they are loose.

The keeping of the books is entrusted to the pupils. They are the ones who have the books, so let's keep our books neat.

TREATMENT OF TEXTBOOKS

Roy Baskin

The way most people treat textbooks is a shame. Of course, some people are careful with them, but the majority are very careless. If pupils or their parents had to buy their own textbooks, they would be much more careful with them, but as the state furnishes them, the pupils treat them very badly. You should never write in your books except when necessary to mark an assignment and then only very lightly, you should never tear pages out or break the covers. If you do this, it costs the State of Texas much money and this should be stopped if possible.

GOING OUT OF DOORS

Harley Modesett

When the bell for recess rings, every body should march quietly out in line. As soon as you get out of the room, you are not out of the building so don't start 'yelling' and talking as loud as you can. If you go to your locker, get the things you need and put them in your next class room; go quietly outside and don't stay in the halls.

We should go out of the building at recess, because we need the fresh air. Play and fresh air are as necessary to us as study. If we stay in the building all day we become tired and lazy.

PLAYING BASEBALL

Ernest Sharpe

Playing baseball for the 'team' is quite different from playing for 'yourself.' When I say playing for the 'team' I mean to do anything that is fair to help the team win, such as sacrificing and cheering the men up when you are losing. A chance at the glory to score, so that the runner on base might advance or score a run. Another way of helping the team is by letting the man with the best chance catch the ball. This is a sacrifice also, for you are letting the man that can easily do the work, have the honor of putting the runner out when you could have done the same at a great risk. In playing baseball you have to cooperate. This is not all it takes to baseball for you have to practice. 'Practice makes perfect' and this includes baseball too.

SPEAKING CORRECTLY

Opal Worcester

Mothers and fathers should not talk 'baby language' to their children. When the children grow up, the parents wonder why they don't talk correct English.

I know an interesting plan to help the children speak correctly. The mother should get a piece of paper each morning and put down the words used incorrectly. During the day she must be on the lookout to hear if any member of the family uses 'don't' for doesn't. At night you can have much fun seeing if daddy, mother or the children have been guilty.

The dictionary is one of our best friends in teaching us correct English. It teaches us how to pronounce the words and gives us the understanding of words. Every home should have a dictionary placed in a low window seat so that it will be handy for every one in the house to seek for information.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

On Wednesday afternoon, October 23, Dorothy Matula invited a few friends to her home to help celebrate her tenth birthday.

During the afternoon the little guests were treated to Eskimo Pies and peanut butter candy sticks.

On cutting the birthday cake the favors went as follows: Ruth Hobson, chain; Catherine Monroe, skate; Lorraine Pope, bugle; Ruth Mode, heart; Helen Ryan, wedding ring; Zora Wilkerson, boat. Dorothy Gohmert, button; Virginia Freeman, shoe; Frances Terry, engagement ring; Edith McGehee, button; Ella Bess Haygood, thimble; Viola Thomas, dog; Clara Baskin, baby and Dorothy Matula, cat. On leaving for their homes each guest was given a bouncing ball. Dorothy received many beautiful gifts.

Just As Bad

Little Ikey was crying bitterly out in the street in front of his father's store, when Rev. J. B. McSnorter came along and asked what was the trouble.

'I lost a nickle,' sobbed Ikey, 'And poppa vill lick me.'

'Oh, if that's all,' said McSnorter kindly, 'here's another nickle.'

Ikey took the money but cried louder than ever.

'Why don't you stop crying?' asked the pastor.

'Vell,' sniffed Ikey, 'Ven I tell fadder you give it to me a nickle, he vill lick me for not saying I lost a dime.'

Teacher, 'There is no such word as can't.'

Wise Senior, 'Let's see you scratch a match on a bar of soap.'

Any Good Words for November?

November has had fewer good words spoken for it than, perhaps any other month. Perhaps it is because in temperate regions, more than any other month it is the season of death. Autumn seems over and winter has not yet begun.

There is no snow to hide the barrenness of the hills and valleys. Shrieking gusty winds whirl about the dead leaves which have lost the last of their lovely autumnal color.

The Anglo-Saxons, who always named things picturesquely, called November the 'wind month' or 'blood month,' the latter probably because of the killing of animals for winter's supply of meats.

Yet the month is by no means without its attractions and many a lover of out door life finds the hazy, mystical days of Indian summer the most delightful of the year.

Our daily tells us that the girls at Wellesley College are quitting the bob and letting their hair grow out. Going into detail on the matter our daily says that more than half the girls have long tresses.

Mark Twain is quoted as having said that bed was the most dangerous place one could possibly be since statistics showed that more people died in bed than any place else.

How much one accomplishes depends on his attitude toward the job he is doing. The fellow who snaps into his job with a zest and pep can accomplish several times as much as the man who dallies and dreams thru his work or who putters listlessly without any apparent purpose.

A Detroit man after losing all his money in a Detroit gambling joint took poison, his last words being, 'May God take care of my family.' The Lord has probably been doing this all along without much assistance from the head of the family.

Graveled highways are like the little girl. When they are good they are very, very good, and when they are bad, they are horrid.

Henry Ford may not be much on history but he surely got his mathematics down fine.

Most of us have opportunities enough. Most men can look back and see where their lives have offered opportunities that would have made them better off and happier and more contented than they are today.

GAUSE

The Gause people are busy planting oats and fall gardens after the rain which fell Saturday and Sunday. All were glad to have a rain because everything was very dry and the dust was terrible.

A number of Methodist church members and officials planned to attend the fourth quarterly conference held at Wheelock Sunday but the rain prevented their going. Mr. F. M. Hauptfleisch, superintendent of the Sunday school, had a very good report to give for the Sunday school. Miss Edrie Wilson, president of the Epworth League, also had a good report for the League.

Sunday, October 27, Miss Mary Critchfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Critchfield of Gause, became the bride of Harry Bowling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Bowling of Gause, in a wedding ceremony at Branchville. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Bowling of Gause attended the couple to Branchville. Following the ceremony the couple and attendants returned to Gause where the young couple will make their home. Friends extend to them congratulations and good wishes.

A business meeting of the Methodist church was held Friday night at the church. Financial conditions were discussed and officers were nominated for the coming year. Their election will be made at the next quarterly conference.

Rev. Kendall, pastor of the Baptist church was unable to fill his appointments Sunday since he is directing the singing in a meeting at Rockdale.

T. C. Wilson thought some one was playing a joke on him Friday night when someone knocked at his door, after he had retired, and called for the preacher to marry a couple. The couple proved to be Miss Polly Rodgers of Cameron and Willie Favors of Gause. Rev. Weeks, pastor of the Methodist church officiated at the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Wilson. Messrs. Billy Merchant, Rufus Hefley and Oscar Morgan were attendants of the couple.

Mrs. T. S. Lindsey was taken to the Cameron hospital Thursday and was operated on for appendicitis Saturday morning. We sincerely hope that her recovery will be soon and that she will soon be back with us.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Bain and daughters of Port Arthur were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Bowling Saturday. One of the daughters, Miss Fave, is a teacher in the Mumford school.

The Home Missionary Society met at Mrs. R. B. Self's Monday afternoon. Several ladies attended and enjoyed the meeting very much.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Butler of Port Arthur have moved back to Gause. Mr. and Mrs. Butler had lived in Gause a number of years but moved away several years ago. We are glad to have them back.

The game of moving has begun. Mr. and Mrs. Denson Barker moved to their farm letting Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Bowling move into their house then M. and Mrs. Frank Roper moved to Mr. Bowling's farm.

Mrs. Jessie Stovall left Sunday for Dallas where she will meet her husband and they will visit his sister there.

Don Fowler and son and daughter of Georgetown were guests in Gause Monday.

Kennard Willard and brother, Lewis, of Goosecreek are visiting their mother.

We are sorry to report that Mr. and Mrs. John King are still ill at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry King. We hope that their recovery will be soon.

Elois Wilson motored his sisters, Misses Edrie and Ariel, and Miss Helen Hauptfleisch to Hearne Saturday for shopping purposes.

Mrs. Lockhart entertained relatives from Cameron Monday afternoon.

A number of people of Gause attended the opening of the new Citizens National Bank building at Cameron Thursday night. Some of the families that attended were Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Self and son Tom, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Varner, Mr. and Mrs. A. Varner, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Wilson and family, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Fowler and family, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Key and family, B. T. Godfrey, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. J. Ealand, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Hauptfleisch and daughters, Elsie and Helen and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Smith.

COTTON PALACE WILL STRESS DAIRY SHOW

Fine Cattle to Be Exhibited at Waco During Exposition, Nov. 1 to 10.

Waco, Texas.—The dairy show at the Texas Cotton Palace Exposition, at Waco, Nov. 1 to 10, will be an outstanding feature. In fact, so important has become the dairy industry in Central Texas that the name of the show has been changed to Texas Cotton Palace and Dairy Show.

The location of the big Borden milk plant at Waco has increased interest in dairying throughout Central Texas. In addition to furnishing a ready market for milk and by-products, there is heavy demand for fine dairy cattle. Many farmers have awakened to the profits derived from dairy cattle, which has resulted in a marked increase and steady improvement in the quality of livestock in the central part of the state.

It was to keep pace with this condition that the Cotton Palace management decided to feature the dairy industry. Some of the finest Jersey herds in Texas will be exhibited at the Cotton Palace dairy show. To care for the large number of entries the livestock section of the exposition is to be enlarged, new barns erected and the old ones repaired and renovated so that the fine animals can be shown and cared for in perfect comfort.

A unique feature is to be introduced in connection with the dairy show on the second night of the exposition, Nov. 2. The cattle will be led into the big coliseum, seating 10,000 people when the prize winners will be announced. At the conclusion of the awarding of prizes, the winners will be led in a "grand march" around the coliseum floor, giving spectators an opportunity to view some of Texas best cattle and at the same time learn some of the fine points about the fast-growing dairy industry.

Word has come from prominent breeders located in widely scattered sections of Texas, notifying the Cotton Palace management of their intention to enter herds of varying size in the dairy show. Some of the breeders will have as many as twenty, while others will have smaller herds.

The dairy show will remain open throughout the period of the exposition, Nov. 1 to 10, inclusive.

Texas and Texans:

By Will H. Mayes

Motor Bus Industry

The last report bearing the official signature of Clarence E. Gilmore, deceased, was of the operations of motor bus lines in Texas for 1928, these lines being under the supervision of the Railway Commission. While the accounting of many bus line operators is far from perfect, the report shows that 4,744,867 passengers were hauled over 45,982,435 bus miles without a passenger being killed or being seriously injured. There were approximately 222 individuals and corporations engaged in the business during the year, making regular trips over 31,000 miles of roadway. The total operating revenues were $6,412,483, with $5,717,668 expenditures. Motor bus travel throughout the State seems to be increasing rapidly with the improvement of the roads.

Goat Industry Grows

No other single industry in Texas is making such rapid growth as goat ranching and mohair production. In some counties goats now lead in the number of livestock with sheep taking second place. Many business men have retired in the last few years from the more active business activities to engage in the comparatively inactive business of mohair and wool production. Ranches are being stocked with the very best of registered Angora goats and there is gradually growing up an aristocracy of goats and goat raisers which promises to be the future leisure class of the country.

Colorado River Dams

Difficulties between the power companies and the residents of the upper area of the Colorado river and tributaries having been adjusted, plans are again under way for the building of a series of dams between the upper part of Burnett county and Austin, to utilize the waters of the stream for hydroelectric power. It is stated that the Insull interests are no longer identified with the enterprise but that sufficient capital will be available, provided reasonable options can be secured on the lands that will be overflowed by the dams, and these are now being secured.

Penny Sees Dairy Profits

J. C. Penny, who heads a $500,000 dairy plant at Atlanta, says that production in the South and Southwest has an immediate potentiality of $300,000,000 a year under proper organization. Those who have been in the leading Northern dairying States wonder why so much dairying is done in a section where cows have to be housed a great part of the year in close barns and fed on dry foods, when there is such a vast area in the south and southwest where there are rich pastures all the year round. The industry is coming this way rapidly.

Texan Buys Railroad

Frank Kell, of Wichita Falls, who builds railroads occasionally along with the numerous other things he does, and his associates have bought a railroad that extends from Joplin, Mo., to Helena, Ark., the line being valued at $11,000,000. The purchasers already held large investments in major securities of the company. Frank Kell and J. A. Kell and J. A. Kemp, his partner in most of the enterprises have been leaders in the building up of the Wichita Falls section of Texas, and they are still building. Texas owes much to men of such pluck.

Trail Drivers Dance

More than 400 members of the Old Trail Drivers' Association held a meeting in San Antonio recently to talk over the old times in Texas when they drove cattle to the North from Texas. When three old fiddlers 'tuned up' in the lobby of the Gunter Hotel, many of them jigged to the accompaniment of the fiddlers. What the dance may have lacked in artistic gracefulness was fully made up in enthusiasm and 'a good time was had by all present.'

Santa Fe Building

The Santa Fe is doing some great work in Texas, now having under construction work from San Angelo to Sonora and from Alpine to Presidio. Other developments in the Southwest some of which await the permit of the I. C. C., will bring the total expenditures for early extensions to approximately $12,000,000.

Dimmitt County Prizes

Dimmitt county, in the heart of the Winter Garden District, took first, second and fourth prizes at the Texas State Fair this year on grapefruit; second, third and fourth prizes on oranges; and second, third and fourth on lemons; as well as first prize over all contenders on county displays. It begins to look like the Carrizo Springs paper, the Javellin, is well named to represent the county.

This is a good place to mention the fact that citrus fruit shipments from the Lower Rio Grande Valley have been about ten times more than to this date in any previous year.

Egg Plants and 'Cukes'

Carload shipments of egg plants and cucumbers are being made from Laredo this season for the first time. The first cars were sent to St. Louis and New York by express. A large acreage is being grown in the Laredo section and the growers expect to take nice profits.

Potatoes Grown For Profit

A young farmer at Lytle planted seven acres in sweet potatoes in the fall of last year. He harvested them after Christmas and realized $700 an acre from the sales. The small potatoes left in the field came up in the spring and from these the young farmer sold potato slips to the amount of $300 an acre to other potato growers, thus realizing $1000 an acre. This shows what plenty of water applied to good soil will do under intelligent management accompanied by hard work.

Financing Dairymen

San Marcos business men have organized a financing corporation and will have $15,000 to loan to farmers for twelve months for the purchase of dairy cattle. The local banks will furnish the money and the finance corporation will guarantee its repayment. Luling business men attended the organization meeting and stated they would adopt a similar plan for the Luling section. A good idea will work as well in one place as another.

Heads Farm Press Group

Fletcher Davis, who edits the Hon-do Anvil-Herald and Fletcher's Farmer and takes time off to head any other movement for the good of his country and state, will serve for the next year as president of Farm Press Writers' Association, an organization sponsored by A. & M. College. He gives most of his time to farm interests, anyway, and will not balk at the extra load placed on him, but will carry it well.

Heads Tax Savers

C. C. Hudson, editor of the Iowa Park Herald will head a Texas organization that will save money for the taxpayers of the State by cutting down operating expenses of the many departments of State and county governments. The newspaper men may not be the heaviest taxpayers, but from long experience they know how to cut down expenses, so the selection of friend Hudson is a good one.

When Gov. Moody's State auditor, with the assistance of the two experts from the Federal Government and Mr. Hudson's organization, get busy seeing that officers and employees all give a day's work for a day's pay something worth while will likely happen in Texas.

Miss Aetna Smith Is Honor Guest At Brownsville Parties

(Brownsville Herald)

Miss Aetna Smith of Cameron, house guest of Mrs. Hilliard Smith, Jr., is being named honoree of numerous pretty social compliments, Mrs. A. D. Dickinson, Jr., entertaining with a bridge luncheon for her Thursday at the country club. Mrs. Frank Brown will be hostess Tuesday at the club, also complimenting the visitor.

Covers were laid for 50 luncheon guests at tables in a cleverly developed color scheme of pink and green. Pink roses were combined with corona vine, and pink candles were an additional color note. Green and pink glassware was used for the luncheon service and a four-course menu was served.

In the card room bouquets of red roses and fern were used as decorations.

Four high prizes were awarded as bridge score favors to Miss Spivey, Mrs. Howard Cummins, Mrs. C. V. Hamilton and Mrs. W. C. Craig, Sr. Mrs. J. H. Green won low score prize and Mrs. Gordon Street was fortunate in the cut. Miss Smith received a Japanese candy box as guest remembrance.

Jeter Sold Much Of Material For Citizens Bank

Much of the material used in the construction of the Citizens National Bank just completed and occupied here was furnished by the Jeter Lumber Company. In the special section issued last week no mention was made of the contribution made by the Jeter Lumber Company to the completion of the new building. This was an oversight on the part of the publishers and we are glad to make this news mention of the fact that the Jeter Lumber yard had a large share in the completion of the building.

Into the construction of the bank building were placed the best materials that could be purchased and both the bank and yard are proud of the construction.

Junior League In Halloween Party

The Junior League of the Methodist church, under the direction of Mrs. Tom Lampkin, superintendent, enjoyed a Halloween party in the church parlors Saturday evening.

In the vestibule the guests were greeted by a witch who gave them an icy handshake by means of a rubber glove. This served as merely an introduction to the witches' chamber which proved to be a fortune telling booth. Each one had his fortune told and was given a love potion.

In the main room all kinds of Halloween games were played. Late in the evening the lights were turned out and in the faint glow of candle light which shed eerie shadows about, ghosts told shivery tales of their doings, and the guests were asked to touch remains of their victims, peeled grapes for the eyes and such like.

Refreshments consisted of sandwiches, weiners, oat meal cookies and soda pop. Assisting Mrs. Lampkin were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Walston, Mrs. John Olson, Mrs. Guy Pope, Mrs. R. B. Rylander and Miss Mollie Moore. Rev. P. T. Ramsey was a visitor.

Young Stafford Lyons Honored On Birthday

Ice cream cones were served with the cake.

Each guest was given a novelty Halloween hat, and then a flashlight picture was made of the group with the hats on. Additional favors were Felix Cat whistles.

Refreshments were served consisting of yellow fruit punch and pimento sandwiches. Mrs. Graham Gillis, who sponsors the Christian Endeavor, was assisted in the entertaining by Miss Kathryn Robbins and Mrs. Geo. Cay.

Sherwin-Williams Has Greatest Year In Product Sales

Cleveland, Ohio, October 30.—Announcing that the fiscal year ending August 31st was the company's record year for sales, George A. Martin, President of the Sherwin-Williams Co., predicts a bright outlook for the current year. The Sherwin-Williams Co., is the world's largest producer of paints, varnishes and allied products.

Martin said that September and October sales were well ahead of the same months of 1928, the previous record year, and that indications are the company will continue to make new records.

Earnings for the year were $6,019,475, after all charges, as against $4,901,840 for the previous year. Total sales of $75,778,071 exceeded those of the previous year by $13,361,313.

In view of the company's strong position, the directors voted to increase the quarterly dividend on the common stock of $1 regular with 12½ cents extra, instead of the former 75 cents regular with 50 cents extra.

The company has $6,500,000 cash and U. S. securities with no bank indebtedness, which is the strongest position in our history, Martin said. 'Our business is so diversified as to markets that we have been able to continue to make new records from year to year.'

September and October sales are well ahead of the same months a year ago, and I see nothing ahead that will cast any shadows on the current year for our company. I am optimistic over the outlook in all sections of the country and departments of the business.

'Our good showing for the year was due largely to our big increase in total sales volume and to our wide diversification, together with production and distribution economies, rather than to any increased profits from the paint and varnish divisions.'

Mrs. Dan Collins Is Hostess At Bridge

Mrs. Dan Collins was hostess Friday afternoon to Ye Merry Wives Bridge Club, having as additional guests Mesdames Bassett Watson and Frank Plaster.

Mrs. C. W. Bradbury made high score for the games and Mrs. Eugene Green low. The hostess served a salad course and hot tea.

Halloween Party For Seventh Grade Pupils

Pupils of the seventh grade enjoyed a Halloween party at the gymnasium at the Ada Henderson building Friday evening, under the direction of their sponsors, Miss Blanche Hensley and Mrs. Charlie Nabours.

Stunts such as bobbing for apples, stringing raisins, pinning on the cat's tail, and telling fortunes furnished amusement. Laurene Nairn received a box of raisins because she strung the most raisins in a minute. Bess Graham was given a black cat cut-out for getting the cat's tail at most nearly the right spot.

Jelly beans were matched for partners in the cake walk and in this Freeman Slocumb and Helen Dierr won the prize, a cake. A pumpkin relay was also a diversion.

Partners were again chosen, this time for refreshments, which consisted of sandwiches, cakes, fruit and soda pop.

HOUSEKEEPING is a delightful game at which every housewife can play with equal pleasure. The cost of using electric appliances today is so low that every one can enjoy their conveniences to the fullest.

A few years ago before inventive genius brought the magic of electric appliances to their aid, housewives worked from early morning until late at night—and their work was seldom finished. Then there were few pleasures for her, and she found little time to enter into them, and was too tired from her work to enjoy them.

Today electricity has made possible an entirely new life for the modern housewife. By the use of electric appliances she does her work in far less time, with less effort—in fact, she can do more work than ever before and feel the strain of doing it scarcely at all. Consequently she has the time and the strength to enjoy many new hours with her family. Modern times have brought her countless new pleasures and diversions. And electricity has made it possible for her to enjoy these things completely.

This Company, having pioneered in transmission line electric service in Texas, has exercised a rigid policy of selecting and offering for sale to its customers only the most efficient and most economical electric appliances made in this country. It is our aim now, as it has been for seventeen years, to give you the fullest measure of electric service possible for the least amount of cost to you.

LIONISM IS MAKER OF CIVIC HISTORY

SERVICE CLUB ORIGINATED BY MELVIN JONES IN CHICAGO FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

Lionism as the world knows it today originated in the mind of Melvin Jones of Chicago in the year 1914. He was a leader in a band of associated business clubs, and the inspiration came to him that the only way the clubs could accomplish anything in a large way was to form an association, national or international in scope.

In that year of 1914 Melvin Jones sent letters to all business luncheon clubs of the United States which were not affiliated with some central body asking their officers to consider such an association. The seed thus sown germinated but it was three years before the actual work of forming an association could be taken up.

It was in May 1917, that the Business Circle of Chicago, a gathering of business clubs of which Melvin Jones was secretary, issued a formal call for a meeting to consider a permanent association, national in scope.

That meeting was held in Chicago, June 7, 1917. About twenty delegates attended, representing more than fifty clubs. They met at the Hotel La Salle and adopted a resolution under which the International Association of Lions Clubs was organized, and a call issued for a national convention to be held at Dallas, Texas, October 9-11, 1917. It was, therefore, on June 7, 1917, that the International Association of Lions Clubs came into being.

Meantime, in the three years which had elapsed between the sending out of the first letter by Melvin Jones, and the formation of a national association, a number of individual clubs were organized, some under the name 'Lions' some under other names. In the summer of 1915 there was founded in San Antonio Texas, the first Lions Club. Lions Clubs were formed in Galveston, Houston, Dallas, Ft. Worth, Waco, Austin, Abilene, Greenville and San Angelo, Texas; Pueblo, Colo., Salt Lake City, Utah; Texarkana and Little Rock, Arkansas; Shreveport, La., and Memphis, Tenn.

At the first annual convention, held at Dallas on October 9-11, 1917, the formal organization of the association with accredited delegates in attendance, was completed. Dr. W. P. Woods of Evansville, Ind., was elected president. Melvin Jones of Chicago was elected secretary-treasurer, which office he has held continuously since.

The second annual convention was held at St. Louis, Mo., August 19-21, 1918. L. H. Lewis of Dallas, Texas, was elected president.

The third annual convention was held at Chicago, July 9-11, 1919. The association at this time had 42 clubs and 2364 members. The association adopted its 'Code of Ethics,' its 'Lions Club Objects,' and the slogan, 'Liberty Intelligence, Our Nation's Safety.' Jesse Robinson of Oakland, Calif., was elected president.

The fourth annual convention was held at Denver, July 13-16, 1920, with 6451 members representing by delegates from 113 clubs. Dr. C. C. Reid of Denver was elected president.

The fifth annual convention was held at Oakland, Calif., July 19-21, 1921. The clubs numbered 229, the members 13,789. Ewen W. Cameron of Minneapolis was elected president.

The sixth annual convention was held at Hot Springs, Ark., June 19-24, 1922. There were 498 clubs in the association with 26,742 members. Ed S. Vaughn of Oklahoma City was elected president.

The seventh annual convention was held at Atlantic City, N. J., June 26-29, 1923. The clubs now numbered 634 the members 32,632. John S. Noel, Grand Rapids, Mich., was elected president.

The eighth annual convention was held at Omaha, Neb., June 23-26, 1924. There were 761 clubs with 36,943 members in the organization. Harry A. Newman of Toronto, Ont., was elected president.

The ninth annual convention was held at Cedar Point, Ohio, June 29-July 2, 1925. The clubs numbered 942 the members 43,919. Benjamin F. Jones of Newark, N. J., was elected president.

The tenth annual convention was held at San Francisco, July 21-24, 1926. There were then 1077 clubs with 48,363 members. William A. Westfall of Mason City, Iowa, was elected president.

The eleventh annual convention was held at Miami, Fla., June 15-18, 1927. The clubs numbered 1,178, the members 51,574. Irving L. Camp of Johnstown, Pa., was elected president and Des Moines, Iowa chosen as the 1928 convention city.

The twelfth annual convention was held at Des Moines, Iowa, July 10-13, 1928. There were at that time 1456 Yions Clubs with 59,459 active members. Ben A. Ruffin of Richmond, Va., who for a year had been first vice-president, was elected to the presidency.

The thirteenth annual convention was held at Louisville, Ky., on June 18-21, 1929. The year had been notable for the rapid growth of Lionism, the number of clubs having increased to 1852 and the active membership to 68,859.

Ray L. Riley of Sacramento, controller of the State of California, was elected president. Other officers elected were Earle W. Hodges of New York City, first vice-president; Julian C. Hyer of Fort Worth, Texas, second vice-president; Robert L. McKeever of Washington D. C., third vice-president; Melvin Jones of Chicago remaining as secretary-treasurer.

A change was made in the constitution pertaining the election of a Canadian member to the board of directors. The choice for this place fell upon Jack W. Connell of Toronto, Ont. Other directors elected were Joseph B. Adams of Chicago; Roderick Bewdow of Birmingham, Ala., and A. William Yungstrom of Elmira, N. Y.

Directors remaining in office from previous years were Vincent C. Hascall of Omaha, Charles H. Hatton of Wichita, Kans., C. H. Jameson of Tulsa, Okla., Dr. M. M. Neilson of Salt Lake City, G. H. Hastings of Winston-Salem, N. C., and Horace S. Kerr of Columbus, Ohio.

William S. Hewlett of Bridgeport, Conn., was elected chairman of the board of governors, and Philip O. Viall of Webster Groves, Mo., vice-chairman.

The convention voted to hold its 1930 convention at Denver, Colo., June 15-18.

paid their debt to the Whites last Friday evening with a Halloween party on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Newton. With a big bonfire on the lawn and the electric lights covered with magic lanterns in the yard, a wierd effect was produced as this subdued light shone on the spooky decorations, the most ghostly among them being a number of cow and horse skulls that grinned at the guests. The house was darkened and the guests were told to walk through to the back and when attempting to do this they found the path full of stumbling blocks. Two fortune tellers' booths were arranged on the grounds and after a jolly evening playing games the 'witches brew' (chili) was served from the caldron that hung from three sticks over a fire. Crackers were served with the

WE THANK YOU

We sincerely appreciate the expression of good will and congratulations on the occasion of the formal opening of our new building on Thursday, October 24, 1929.

The people were generous in attending the reception. Thousands came to see the new building and to express their interest in the growth and development of this bank.

We are indebted to the people for their faith in this bank through the years and as we begin a new era of service the interest expressed on this occasion warms us and gives us a new conception of our obligations to this fine public esteem.

We count public esteem our greatest asset and this occasion was a manifestation of public interest we cannot measure in material values. Such interest as this touches the finer things in all of us and our response will be a greater devotion to your interests, more helpful financial counsel and a banking service commensurate with the position we hold.

The flowers sent by patrons, friends in business and others were expressions of interest and good will we very much appreciate and to one and all we extend our heartfelt thanks.

The formal opening and reception was an occasion for the first public inspection of our new building for the people in general. We want you to know that the hospitality shown you on this occasion is an every day policy with us and we want you to visit us often and learn more about the service we render as a bank for everybody.

has a place for his paid checks, accessible on demand.

After inspecting the book vault, Phillip Reid, Assistant Cashier, showed the customers the massive cash and safety deposit vault where the money of the bank is kept.

Miss Ruby Lengert, secretary of the bank, received the customers and explained the bookkeeping of the safety deposit boxes for customer's use and stated that they required two keys to unlock, one carried by the customer and one by the bank. Each time a customer unlocks his box, it is necessary for him to sign, giving the date of entry. $5,000.00 in burglar and daylight holdup insurance is carried against each of these boxes.

The electric burglar alarm that is so delicate that even sound waves from clapping the hands set it off was demonstrated to the customers throughout the evening, and many allowed to throw the alarm themselves.

The time clocks by which the vault is locked at night and cannot be opened until the clocks run down, were of special interest to the visitors.

The massive ten ton steel door, guarding the vault, was of interest to the customers. This door is so delicately balanced that a small child can open and close it with one hand.

In the exchange department the machine that writes and protects checks from alteration was demonstrated by Mrs. Nannie Bodiford.

At the door, the customers came to a large punch bowl, presided over by Miss Mary Lake Henderson, assisted by Ted Harris and Misses Cora Bar-more, Nancy Rae Slocumb, Billy Gaiter, Ethel Mondrik, Bonnelle Ne-nast, Juanita Smith and Cecelia Hib-ner.

The flood lights of the bank that light the building on the outside from top to bottom were turned on at 7:30 o'clock. These lights resemble a tall street lamp with 1000 candle power light on one side of the reflector and 200 candle power light on the other side of the reflector. These two lights are erected on either side of the building and flood the entire building with light. The Texas Power & Light Company is very much interested in the success of these lights as this is the first time that this method of flood lighting has been used in Texas. The local manager was instructed to take a picture of the Citizens National Bank with flood lights on for the use of the company's engineers.

About fifty baskets of flowers decorated the bank, two of these baskets were from New York banks, one from St. Louis. One basket of flowers attracted particular attention because it was from the State of Maine. The flowers are called Japanese Lanterns, a flower that does not shed and stays pretty all winter. It dry up but retains its beauty.

The balcony was decorated with ferns from behind which Guy Draper's Orchestra from Waco furnished music for the entertainment.

Some of the out of town guests at the opening of the bank were:

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lee Davis of Waco, Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Lacy, president of the Citizens National Bank of Waco, Mr. Earl B. Stallings, cashier of the South Texas Commercial National Bank of Houston, F. F. Downs, president of First National Bank of Temple, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Thomas, president of the First National Bank of Rogers, Mr. Chas. A. Davis, cashier of the First National Bank of Thorndale, Claud Eads, assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Thorndale, J. Edwin Brown, president of the First National Bank of McGregor, Ewing Norwood, president of the First National Bank of Navasota, Louis S. Pierce, director of the Citizens National Bank of Navasota, G. Milton McGregor and T. M. Williams of the Lee County State Bank of Lexington, Mr. Childers and Betts, representing the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, Mr. H. H. Camp, president of the Rockdale State Bank, T. B. Ryan, assistant cashier of the Rockdale State Bank, C. E. Prewitt, E. Lengert, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Camp, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Seibert of Rockdale, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Buckley and Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Stanford of Lorena, Mr. J. A. Tarver, president of the Planters National Bank of Rosebud, Dave Wilson and Hugh Looney of Bryan, and Mr. Wm. Schmidt of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York.

The streets for one block each way from the Citizens National Bank were roped off, the town full of cars and the roped off space full of people waiting their turn to be admitted into the bank and shown through. Never before was such a crowd seen in Cameron for any similar event. It was estimated that between 3000 and 4000 people came to this opening. The bank served 80 gallons of punch and used 2300 individual paper cups and almost 20,000 cakes. The night was a little cool and not over half of the people accepted the punch.

Congratulatory messages were received from banks all over the United States and WFAA at 9:00 o'clock broadcast its felicitations but the radio installed in the lobby of the bank could not be heard above the voices of the many guests. Numerous friends however, over the city, heard the congratulations of this broadcasting station and the bank has since received letters from other people who happened to be listening in, among them the president of the Hibernia Bank and Trust Company of New Orleans and the vice-president of the Whitney-Central of New Orleans and others letting us know that Cameron was on the map and on strong at that time.

Lions Hear Pastor Of Christian Church

The Cameron Lions convened at their regular luncheon hour Tuesday noon at the Methodist church with 29 members and two visitors present. W. M. Ratcliff of Fort Worth, representative of the Texas-Louisiana Power Company and guest of W. J. Watson, was a most pleasant guest. Rev. Joel B. Hardigree of the local First Christian church who attended at the request of Rev. E. S. Hutcherson, chairman of the program, gave a very interesting talk on 'Making Money.'

Rev. Hardigree introduced his discussion by the old theory that it was thought sinful to make and acquire wealth, but stated that today that idea was greatly changed. Mr. Har-digree believes that if a man has the ability and brains to obtain money rightfully, it is sinful for him to shirk his duty of doing so. To earn wealth requires man's best thinking and talent. Money should be earned rightfully and spent for community betterment and for the welfare of humanity.

Lion members present enjoyed the lecture very much and look forward to the occasion of having the Rev. Hardigree back in their midst.

Chairman Hutcherson of the finance committee read the budget that has been worked out for the year's program, and it was adopted with one change necessary. It was decided to allow $200 instead of only $100 for the Cameron Lion selected to attend the International Lion Convention that takes place once yearly.

Frances Terry Is Hostess To Friends

Another Halloween party taking place this week occurred Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Bob Terry entertained at her home for her daughter, Frances, inviting a number of girls from the fourth grade at the Ada Henderson school.

The guests were received at the door by the honor guest and Vivian Whites, who were spookily dressed in ghost costumes. Everyone came in Halloween attire. The house was decorated with various novelty cutouts carrying out the chosen motif, and the lights were colored with orange shades.

A fortune wheel, apple bobbing, and other such amusements formed diversions. Late in the afternoon orange ice and hobgoblin cookies were served the guests.

Majestic RADIO

Licensed under patents and applications of R. C. A. and R. F. L., also by Lektiphone, Lowell & Dunmore and Hogan License Associates.

Nearly TWO MILLION People CAN'T Be Wrong--

and MAJESTIC Still Makes and Sells 6,000 Radio Sets Daily

Today from nearly every newspaper page you are being shouted at to "watch your step" in buying a radio set, to "look for this" or "look for that." You are being implored to "buy a strictly modern radio." You are being told that "no radio but the famous Gazookis is up to the minute, because it has the new blah, blah, blah—something that no other radio manufacturer can equal.

There is nothing to get excited about. It is so simple to buy a good radio set today, if you look for only two things, which your own mind and your own ears are fully capable of deciding. First, the performance (tone quality), and secondly, is the reputation of the manufacturer sufficient to guarantee that your investment is safe and permanent.

Majestic has always said, "You cannot buy a better radio set than Majestic at any price." We rest our case on that statement. You are the judge. We do not need to tell you that Majestic can make any sort of set, and can manufacture and use in that set, any type of tubes that are known in the radio world. Majestic has access to all the patents, has all the manufacturing facilities, has all the financial resources necessary to do the job.

Majestic is making the kind of sets that are being produced today because, point for point, we know "You can't buy a better radio set than Majestic at any price." If you hear a Majestic, if you listen to its colorful tone, its faithful reproduction, if you examine its sturdy construction, its oversize power pack, its beautiful blended cabinet woods, and compare these points in a side by side test with any other set on the market at any price, then you'll buy a Majestic.

May we remind you, with modest pride, that there are nearly two million happy owners of Majestics today. Two million owners in 17 months—think of it.

MAJESTIC—MIGHTY MONARCH OF THE AIR

The President's Plans Tainted Football Sunshine, Diet, Thought Another Big Airboat

President Hoover's plan for a great system of inland waterways realizes in prospect, the hope of those that welcomed an able engineer to the White House.

Total expenditures planned will amount to $525,000,000 and every dollar spent will pay for itself ten times over.

The President observes that the annual increase in expenditures will amount only to the cost of one-half of one battleship.

The President might have added that in modern war the whole of one battleship would be worth less than one-half of 10 cents, since battleships are now merely targets for submarines and airplanes, worth nothing, except to battleship builders.

The Carnegie foundation says college football is 'tainted with money.' Free teaching and cash bonuses are given to young men that can kick hard run fast and tackle savagely.

It would be more pleasing if colleges sought great teachers as eagerly as they seek great quarterbacks.

But no great harm is done. The games and great crowds arouse young men's interest in college life and give college education to young men from rolling mills and rear ends of ice wagons, that might otherwise remain uneducated.

Miss Mary Garden, still very young, returns to America weighing only 116 pounds. Her prescription is 'diet, thinking and sunshine.'

The diet is meager, hardly enough for a few canary birds. Sunshine abundant. Thinking, doubtless, very deep.

To weigh 116 pounds is not important. But if all of us imitated Mary Garden, ate less and thought more, civilization would progress rapidly.

Progress in flying advances rapidly in Europe. A few days ago Germans showed a gigantic hydroplane with 12 engines, flying, carrying 169 passengers and crew.

Great Britain is building a plane of the same size (a triplane instead of a biplane, also with 12 engines, to go faster).

Henry Ford was the first to talk about a 12-engine plane 'to carry 160 people, with a machine shop on board.' The Germans and the British build the planes.

The Swiss parliament, elected by a moral and serious nation, proposing a law to punish blasphemy, suggests six months in prison for those that 'orally or in writing insult God.'

Blasphemy should be punished because it sets a bad example and shows want of respect for the feelings of others.

But is it possible for any two-legged human microbe on this planet 'to insult God?'

If the mice proposed to punish any mouse insulting Edison, you would say, 'Mice don't worry, you can't insult Edison.'

How much less can any man insult the Creator of the Universe?

The nation read with affectionate sympathy of Mr. Edison's visit to Dearborn, where Henry Ford has rebuilt as it was in old days the simple Edison laboratory to which men owe so much.

Mr. Edison was deeply moved when he saw his old tools, the chair in which he sat in his early youth, his primitive paraphernalia reassembled as used 50 years ago when he developed the idea that now lights the world.

Every old man can share Mr. Edison's emotions. The human heart is the same with or without genius to lend it a great name.

A million among those that see this column carry with them memories of youth—a shellbark hickory tree standing alone in the field; a grove of chestnut trees with yellowish green burrs open, showing the brown nuts within; a pond that held 'shiners' and catfish; a swimming hole—happy memories of a free life and boundless hope.

Mr. Kingsbury, head of Standard Oil of California, cuts prices he pays for California oil from 50 to 75 cents a barrel, an excellent plan to prevent the reckless outpouring of oil and waste of gas.

Mr. Kingsbury says: 'There is being blown into the air in California 900,000,000 cubic feet of gas every day.'

The fuel value of this gas equals 132,000 barrels of oil every day.

Reckless squandering of our oil reserves and waste of gas allowed to escape into the air are a disgrace to the common sense of this country.

'Early this season when screen grid became common talk and it became evident that some of the prominent set manufacturers would feature the screen grid tube, the Grigsby-Grunow Company made up a sample for use with the screen grid tubes, and on comparison of sets we found that our present chassis was far superior to anything that we could build, and for

The formal opening of the Citizens National Bank was held Thursday night, October 24 with the largest number of people attending ever to gather for a similar event in Cameron. Thousands of people visited the bank and many messages of congratulations were received from over the United States.

Upon entering the bank, the guests were ushered down the receiving line as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Oxsheer Smith, Mrs. H. F. Smith Sr., Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Henderson Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Newton.

They were next escorted from the front office back to the teller's cage where Assistant Cashier, Lester Williams, demonstrated the automatic coin changing machines and allowed the customers to make their own change by pushing a button. Of special interest to the customers was the currency coming from the U. S. Government in sheets with six bills to the sheet, all signed but not cut apart. The privacy of the teller's cage was explained. A customer may make a deposit and one standing by his side cannot see the money counted or now much he has deposited.

Farther on down the banking room, they reached a department, presided over by Assistant Cashier, Ladis Marek and assisted by Alvin Nolte, and were shown the bookkeeping machines that add and subtract by extending balances and automatically carrying the total of the checks and deposits posted as well as the new balances. At the end of the day's business, by pushing a lever, the total is given for each of the items and the work provided by a single movement.

They were next escorted to the book vault where the records of the bank are kept, stationery and supplies, and the filing system where each customer (continued on last page)

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. BENJAMIN HOWELL

90 YEAR OLD MOTHER SLEEPS IN QUIET CEMETERY AT TANGLEWOOD

Funeral services for 'Mother' Howell (Mrs. Benjamin A. Howell) were held Saturday afternoon at one o'clock from the First Methodist church with Rev. P. T. Ramsey officiating, assisted by Rev. E. S. Hutcherson of the First Baptist church and Rev. J. Hardigree of the Christian church.

Mother Howell was ninety years old on October 5 of this year. She was ill on her birthday, but her children and grandchildren came from far and near to be with her then and pay their reverence for her life as she had lived it. In a few well chosen words at the funeral, Rev. Ramsey likened her to a leaf which, when it is in the yellow, must fall.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Lee. Her mother's maiden name was Helen Flowers Yeats, and her father was a cousin to General Robert E. Lee. Mother Howell remembered many times that she sat on the knee of her distinguished relative. In 1857 she was married to Benjamin A. Howell and in 1874 they moved to Texas. Fourteen children were born to the union, ten of whom survive her. In her early childhood Mother Howell joined the Methodist church and she worshipped in that faith until her death. For the past several years she has made her home in Cameron with her son, T. A. Howell.

Besides her children, Mother Howell had 65 grandchildren and 36 great-grandchildren, making a total of 115 direct descendants.

Pall bearers were six grandsons, Albert Howell of Childress, D. W. Howell of Energy, Frank Howell of Hamilton, Emory Howell of Big Springs, and T. A. Howell of Cameron; Mrs. Mortie Rouse of Austin, Mrs. Will Morris of Yoakum, Mrs. T. E. Wooten of Thorndale, Mrs. J. A. Smelscher of Hainesville, La., and Mrs. W. C. Herndon of Cameron. All of these were present for the funeral except J. O. Howell of Childress and Emory Howell of Big Springs.

Interment was made in the Tanglewood Cemetery, Green Brothers in charge of arrangements.

WHAT WE THINK

By FRANK DIXON

Much of the bootleg liquor is poison yet I don't think there is much danger of bad whiskey killing good men.

These golfing liars have the advantage over the fishing variety. They can't be expected to show their proof. An Atlanta telephone girl is reported to have been divorced three times. Guess she isn't able to take her rings seriously.

Winfield, Kansas, is one town where they charge calliope operators $10 a day and let saxophone players off with nothing.

Really now how much of a dumbbell is 'Dumb' and how much is 'Belle'? New sign for an old flivver, 'Follow me for Ford parts.'

Taxes are the salvation of the country. People are kept busy paying them. Just so the money is spent for something worth while and not for building pyramids or feasting Belshazzars.

Some of the leaders over in Europe are working on a plan for the United States of Europe. I thought of that 40 years ago, but no one asked me.

Our idea of there being too many fools on earth applies there. It could be done if it were not for the fools over there, but eliminate all of them and there would be a dearth of people. However, if there are enough wise men in Europe the thing can be done. Just two or three dozen wise men could fix Europe so it would be going strong as a united country instead of a lot of small states with high tariff walls around each of them and trying to cut each others throats.

We really could write a good column if it were not for Anjenette who gets up about the time we get started and wants to know why breakfast is not ready.

The other fellow does not think much of you unless you fall for his game.

If you expect anyone to meet you with a smile and a handshake, and feel real interested in your welfare, owe him a lot of money.

This great country of ours preaches Christianity and practices about everything else, and the public stands for it, because the average voter has the ideas as our legislators right now. The big row now in our U. S. Senate is for a higher tariff and tariff of all kinds were causes for most of our wars and will be again. The most outrageous crime of nations is high tariff walls, but human beings, because of their infernal, supreme selfishness are obsessed with the idea that they can rob the other fellow indefinitely and get away with it.

Ramsey and Hoover have worked hard for world peace, but their work will be a mere 'scrap of paper' when the 'time comes.'

Ed Howe says that there are no wise men and we agree with him. If there had been, there would be no wars. Occasionally men show a little wisdom and a few are wiser than others. Most of the wisdom displayed by men is never recognized until after they are dead and gone.

In these days of endurance records let us suggest the following long run artists:

the Gold Dust Twins,
liver and onions,
fines and costs,
fair and warmer,
Maggie and Jiggs,
fat and forty,
for better and for worse,
wine, women and song.

Another instance of legislative folly is the recent convicts' revolt at Canyon City, Colorado. There was a time when Colorado used the convicts to build roads, but some fool got the idea that convicts should be confined to their cells and so Colorado decided that they would let someone else build the roads and as the convicts had nothing to do they created something, just as you and I would do under like circumstances.

Anyway there is poetic justice in letting highwaymen work on the highways.

The Pathfinder observes that in diplomatic circles your standing seems to not be so important as your sitting.

Worth Saving

Amid the cheers of the frightened bystanders the young man leaped into the lake, swam to the drowning girl and brought her to the shore.

'Such bravery,' remarked an elderly woman effusively. 'It was wonderful.'

The hero blushed. 'Say!' he ejaculated. 'She swiped my fraternity pin from the Sheba yesterday. I had to get it didn't I?'

Easy Starting Is Chevrolet Feature For Cold Weather

Detroit, Oct. 30.—To many automobile owners 'cold weather driving' and 'hard starting' are synonymous.

It is true that an engine does not start as easily in Winter as in Summer, but a little care on part of the owner will go a long way toward minimizing the difficulty, Chevrolet Motor Company engineers point out.

Since the inception of the Chevrolet car more than eighteen years ago, company engineers have been applying themselves to the problem of easier starting. Making use of the 'cold room' facilities of the General Motors Research laboratories and working for hundreds of days in zero weather at the General Motors Proving Ground, Chevrolet technical men have been attacking the 'cold motor' problem for many years. In considering the case of the car that is difficult to start in cold weather, Chevrolet engineers call attention first to the rather obvious fact that an engine in good condition will perform all its functions, including starting, more satisfactorily than one that is out of adjustment.

The principal parts which have a direct bearing on the starting of an engine are: Battery, starting motor, carburetor, spark plugs, ignition system and valves.

As the efficiency of the battery is materially reduced in cold weather, it should be given great consideration. If the electrical system is weak, complete combustion cannot be obtained, therefore, before the start of winter, it is good preventative insurance to have some reputable electrical service station check over the battery, spark plugs and entire ignition system.

The starting motor very seldom causes trouble.

The carburetor must be adjusted properly for the winter and choke and throttle controls connected properly.

The spark plugs are equipped with two electrodes set in such a manner that the electrical current must jump across a small gap from one to the other. In making this jump, a spark occurs. It is this spark that ignites the mixture of gasoline and air in the combustion chamber of the cylinder. The size of the gap between the electrodes affects the type of spark produced. It is, therefore, important that this gap should be inspected for proper adjustment.

Obviously the spark plugs should be cleaned; and the terminals of the spark plug wires firmly attached. If the plugs have been in use 10,000 miles they should be replaced.

The ignition system, including all wiring and terminals should be checked at the beginning of winter, particular attention being paid to the distributor timing and to condition of the contact points.

If the valves do not seat properly, a leakage of compression occurs resulting in incomplete combustion which hinders starting and also tends to foul the spark plugs.

Attention to these suggestions will eliminate your starting troubles this winter and cut down the wear and tear on your nerves as well, according to the Chevrolet engineering division.

Chas. F. Niehaus Died Suddenly In Canadian Home

Colonel Chas. F. Niehaus, age 67, former prominent Rockdale citizen, died last Wednesday at Kitchener, Ont., Canada, following an operation in a Kitchener hospital.

News of his death came in the form of a telegram to Hon. J. W. Garner Thursday, but was confined to the simple statement that death came suddenly. However, it was known that Col. Niehaus was suffering from tumor of the bladder, and that he was in a more or less serious condition.

Colonel Niehaus came to Rockdale from Canada twelve or fifteen years ago and acquired considerable property, including a large tract of land on which the shallow oil field was developed. He returned to Canada about two years ago, but still retained many of his local interests. News of his death will be received with regret by many friends made here during his period of citizenship.—Rockdale Reporter.

Friday Bridge Club With Mrs. Fahrendorf

Members of the Friday Bridge Club were guests last week of Mrs. F. C. Fahrendorf, who named as honoree her house guest, Mrs. X. B. Saunders of Waco. Other than club members were Mrs. S. Kestenbaum and Mrs. Dan Legacy of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. Awards were presented to Mrs. R. Thomas for high score and Mrs. T.

S. Henderson Jr., for low, and Mrs. Saunders was remembered with a gift. On trays centered with cleverly fashioned boots in Halloween design and filled with yellow marigolds, the hostess offered a collation of salad and coffee with a dessert course of ice cream served in pumpkin holders. The table centers were given as cuts.

A NIGHT OUTDOORS

By Roy Baskin

Have you ever been on an all night hike, or any other hike or picnic in the woods on which you stayed all night? Last Friday, Boy Scout Troop No. 32 went on an all night hike and we certainly had lots of fun. We were to be at the church at five o'clock but didn't get started until after five-thirty. When we got to the river, Benny Archer, our Scoutmaster, 'Yeah' Adams, Jack Moore, 'Dubb' Shipp and I went in swimming. A little later on we went down a steep bank to put out some fishing lines. Very wet with dew was the grass. At a particularly steep place all of a sudden down slid I and just stopped six inches from the edge of a miniature cliff about six feet above some very deep water. There were twelve boys on the hike, seven of whom had put up their cots together. The other five had put their cots up a little way off. I was in the camp that had seven boys. We heard the other boys talking about raiding our camp that night whereupon we immediately made a barricade of tables and chairs. However, hostilities were begun before bedtime, for the others carried out their threat. The Scoutmaster soon settled that and we had supper which consisted of bacon, eggs, wieners, bread, cheese and pickles. Every once in a while during the night some one from the other camp would disturb us and, all in all, I got exactly thirty minutes of sleep. We got up in the morning at four-thirty, although we had been awake four hours. Out of bed crawled all of us excepting Giles who maintained he wanted to get some sleep. I had a pretty good time but I was so tired I nearly 'died' Saturday. Mother forbids me to go on any more all night hikes unless I caught more sleep.

SLEEPING OUTDOORS

Clayton Sapp

Sleeping out is great fun if you like it. One time Ernest, F. E. and I slept out down at Ernest's house. At first, seeing a small light down near the railroad tracks, we proceeded to go down there we found a fire which we put out. After getting back on my cot the last thing I knew was Ernest and F. E. studying astronomy. It is a very good thing I had on my pajamas for when I awoke in the morning a cow had her head under the wire that was stretched around us and was 'munching' the paper in which they had been wrapped.

kept in the best of order. There are two reasons why they should be kept thus. The first one is: the books are not your own, because they are provided by the state. The second one is: the one who gets the books after you, should have the same chance with a nice clean book as you.

Various ways are provided by the school to protect the books. The school or some store in town will buy the book covers to keep the wear and tear from the books. The state also will put new backs on the books if they are loose.

The keeping of the books is entrusted to the pupils. They are the ones who have the books, so let's keep our books neat.

TREATMENT OF TEXTBOOKS

Roy Baskin

The way most people treat textbooks is a shame. Of course, some people are careful with them, but the majority are very careless. If pupils or their parents had to buy their own textbooks, they would be much more careful with them, but as the state furnishes them, the pupils treat them very badly. You should never write in your books except when necessary to mark an assignment and then only very lightly, you should never tear pages out or break the covers. If you do this, it costs the State of Texas much money and this should be stopped if possible.

GOING OUT OF DOORS

AT RECESS

Harley Modesett

When the bell for recess rings, every body should march quietly out in line. As soon as you get out of the room, you are not out of the building so don't start 'yelling' and talking as loud as you can. If you go to your locker, get the things you need and put them in your next class room; go quietly outside and don't stay in the halls.

We should go out of the building at recess, because we need the fresh air. Play and fresh air are as necessary to us as study. If we stay in the building all day we become tired and lazy.

PLAYING BASEBALL

Ernest Sharpe

Playing baseball for the 'team' is quite different from playing for 'yourself.' When I say playing for the 'team' I mean to do anything that is fair to help the team win, such as sacrificing and cheering the men up when you are losing. A chance at the glory to score, so that the runner on base might advance or score a run. Another way of helping the team is by letting the man with the best chance catch the ball. This is a sacrifice also, for you are letting the man that can easily do the work, have the honor of putting the runner out when you could have done the same at a great risk. In playing baseball you have to cooperate. This is not all it takes to baseball for you have to practice. 'Practice makes perfect' and this includes baseball too.

SPEAKING CORRECTLY

Opal Worcester

Mothers and fathers should not talk 'baby language' to their children. When the children grow up, the parents wonder why they don't talk correct English.

I know an interesting plan to help the children speak correctly. The mother should get a piece of paper each morning and put down the words used incorrectly. During the day she must be on the lookout to hear if any member of the family uses 'don't' for doesn't. At night you can have much fun seeing if daddy, mother or the children have been guilty.

The dictionary is one of our best friends in teaching us correct English. It teaches us how to pronounce the words and gives us the understanding of words. Every home should have a dictionary placed in a low window seat so that it will be handy for every one in the house to seek for information.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

On Wednesday afternoon, October 23, Dorothy Matula invited a few friends to her home to help celebrate her tenth birthday.

During the afternoon the little guests were treated to Eskimo Pies and peanut butter candy sticks.

On cutting the birthday cake the favors went as follows: Ruth Hobson, chain; Catherine Monroe, skate; Lorraine Pope, bugle; Ruth Mode, heart; Helen Ryan, wedding ring; Zora Wilkerson, boat. Dorothy Gohmert, button; Virginia Freeman, shoe; Frances Terry, engagement ring; Edith McGehee, button; Ella Bess Haygood, thimble; Viola Thomas, dog; Clara Baskin, baby and Dorothy Matula, cat. On leaving for their homes each guest was given a bouncing ball. Dorothy received many beautiful gifts.

Just As Bad

Little Ikey was crying bitterly out in the street in front of his father's store, when Rev. J. B. McSnorter came along and asked what was the trouble.

'I lost a nickle,' sobbed Ikey, 'And poppa vill lick me.'

'Oh, if that's all,' said McSnorter kindly, 'here's another nickle.'

Ikey took the money but cried louder than ever.

'Why don't you stop crying?' asked the pastor.

'Vell,' sniffed Ikey, 'Ven I tell fadder you give it to me a nickle, he vill lick me for not saying I lost a dime.'

Teacher, 'There is no such word as can't.'

Wise Senior, 'Let's see you scratch a match on a bar of soap.'

Any Good Words for November? November has had fewer good words spoken for it than, perhaps any other month. Perhaps it is because in temperate regions, more than any other month it is the season of death. Autumn seems over and winter has not yet begun.

There is no snow to hide the barrenness of the hills and valleys. Shrieking winds whirl about the dead leaves which have lost the last of their lovely autumnal color.

The Anglo-Saxons, who always named things picturesquely, called November the 'wind month' or 'blood month,' the latter probably because of the killing of animals for winter's supply of meats.

Yet the month is by no means without its attractions and many a lover of out door life finds the hazy, mystical days of Indian summer the most delightful of the year.

Our daily tells us that the girls at Wellesley College are quitting the bob and letting their hair grow out. Going into detail on the matter our daily says that more than half the girls have long tresses.

Mark Twain is quoted as having said that bed was the most dangerous place one could possibly be since statistics showed that more people died in bed than any place else.

How much one accomplishes depends on his attitude toward the job he is doing. The fellow who snaps into his job with a zest and pep can accomplish several times as much as the man who dallies and dreams thru his work or who putters listlessly without any apparent purpose.

A Detroit man after losing all his money in a Detroit gambling joint took poison, his last words being, 'May God take care of my family.' The Lord has probably been doing this all along without much assistance from the head of the family.

Graveled highways are like the little girl. When they are good they are very, very good, and when they are bad, they are horrid.

Henry Ford may not be much on history but he surely got his mathematics down fine.

Most of us have opportunities enough. Most men can look back and see where their lives have offered opportunities that would have made them better off and happier and more contented than they are today.

GAUSE

The Gause people are busy planting oats and fall gardens after the rain which fell Saturday and Sunday. All were glad to have a rain because everything was very dry and the dust was terrible.

A number of Methodist church members and officials planned to attend the fourth quarterly conference held at Wheelock Sunday but the rain prevented their going. Mr. F. M. Hauptfleisch, superintendent of the Sunday school, had a very good report to give for the Sunday school. Miss Edrie Wilson, president of the Epworth League, also had a good report for the League.

Sunday, October 27, Miss Mary Critchfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Critchfield of Gause, became the bride of Harry Bowling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Bowling of Gause, in a wedding ceremony at Branchville. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Bowling of Gause attended the couple to Branchville. Following the ceremony the couple and attendants returned to Gause where the young couple will make their home. Friends extend to them congratulations and good wishes.

A business meeting of the Methodist church was held Friday night at the church. Financial conditions were discussed and officers were nominated for the coming year. Their election will be made at the next quarterly conference.

Rev. Kendall, pastor of the Baptist church was unable to fill his appointments Sunday since he is directing the singing in a meeting at Rockdale. T. C. Wilson thought some one was playing a joke on him Friday night when someone knocked at his door, after he had retired, and called for the preacher to marry a couple. The couple proved to be Miss Polly Rodgers of Cameron and Willie Favors of Gause. Rev. Weeks, pastor of the Methodist church officiated at the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Wilson. Messrs. Billy Merchant, Rufus Hefley and Oscar Morgan were attendants of the couple.

Mrs. T. S. Lindsey was taken to the Cameron hospital Thursday and was operated on for appendicitis Saturday morning. We sincerely hope that her recovery will be soon and that she will soon be back with us.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Bain and daughters of Port Arthur were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Bowling Saturday. One of the daughters, Miss Fave, is a teacher in the Mumford school.

The Home Missionary Society met at Mrs. R. B. Self's Monday afternoon. Several ladies attended and enjoyed the meeting very much.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Butler of Port Arthur have moved back to Gause. Mr. and Mrs. Butler had lived in Gause a number of years but moved away several years ago. We are glad to have them back.

The game of moving has begun. Mr. and Mrs. Denson Barker moved to their farm letting Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Bowling move into their house then M. and Mrs. Frank Roper moved to Mr. Bowling's farm.

Mrs. Jessie Stovall left Sunday for Dallas where she will meet her husband and they will visit his sister there.

Don Fowler and son and daughter of Georgetown were guests in Gause Monday.

Kennard Willard and brother, Lewis, of Goosecreek are visiting their mother.

We are sorry to report that Mr. and Mrs. John King are still ill at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry King. We hope that their recovery will be soon.

Elois Wilson motored his sisters, Misses Edrie and Ariel, and Miss Helen Hauptfleisch to Hearne Saturday for shopping purposes.

Mrs. Lockhart entertained relatives from Cameron Monday afternoon.

COTTON PALACE WILL STRESS DAIRY SHOW

Fine Cattle to Be Exhibited at Waco During Exposition, Nov. 1 to 10.

Waco, Texas.—The dairy show at the Texas Cotton Palace Exposition, at Waco, Nov. 1 to 10, will be an outstanding feature. In fact, so important has become the dairy industry in Central Texas that the name of the show has been changed to Texas Cotton Palace and Dairy Show.

The location of the big Borden milk plant at Waco has increased interest in dairying throughout Central Texas. In addition to furnishing a ready market for milk and by-products, there is heavy demand for fine dairy cattle. Many farmers have awakened to the profits derived from dairy cattle, which has resulted in a marked increase and steady improvement in the quality of livestock in the central part of the state.

It was to keep pace with this condition that the Cotton Palace management decided to feature the dairy industry. Some of the finest Jersey herds in Texas will be exhibited at the Cotton Palace dairy show. To care for the large number of entries the livestock section of the exposition is to be enlarged, new barns erected and the old ones repaired and renovated so that the fine animals can be shown and cared for in perfect comfort.

A unique feature is to be introduced in connection with the dairy show on the second night of the exposition, Nov. 2. The cattle will be led into the big coliseum, seating 10,000 people when the prize winners will be announced. At the conclusion of the awarding of prizes, the winners will be led in a "grand march" around the coliseum floor, giving spectators an opportunity to view some of Texas best cattle and at the same time learn some of the fine points about the fast-growing dairy industry.

Word has come from prominent breeders located in widely scattered sections of Texas, notifying the Cotton Palace management of their intention to enter herds of varying size in the dairy show. Some of the breeders will have as many as twenty, while others will have smaller herds.

The dairy show will remain open throughout the period of the exposition, Nov. 1 to 10, inclusive.

Texas and Texans

By Will H. Mayes

Motor Bus Industry

The last report bearing the official signature of Clarence E. Gilmore, deceased, was of the operations of motor bus lines in Texas for 1928, these lines being under the supervision of the Railway Commission. While the accounting of many bus line operators is far from perfect, the report shows that 4,744,867 passengers were hauled over 45,982,435 bus miles without a passenger being killed or being seriously injured. There were approximately 222 individuals and corporations engaged in the business during the year, making regular trips over 31,000 miles of roadway. The total operating revenues were $6,412,483, with $5,717,668 expenditures. Motor bus travel throughout the State seems to be increasing rapidly with the improvement of the roads.

Goat Industry Grows

No other single industry in Texas is making such rapid growth as goat ranching and mohair production. In some counties goats now lead in the number of livestock with sheep taking second place. Many business men have retired in the last few years from the more active business activities to engage in the comparatively inactive business of mohair and wool production. Ranches are being stocked with the very best of registered Angora goats and there is gradually growing up an aristocracy of goats and goat raisers which promises to be the future leisure class of the country.

Colorado River Dams

Difficulties between the power companies and the residents of the upper area of the Colorado river and tributaries having been adjusted, plans are again under way for the building of a series of dams between the upper part of Burnett county and Austin, to utilize the waters of the stream for hydroelectric power. It is stated that the Insull interests are no longer identified with the enterprise but that sufficient capital will be available, provided reasonable options can be secured on the lands that will be overflowed by the dams, and these are now being secured.

Penny Sees Dairy Profits

J. C. Penny, who heads a $500,000 dairy plant at Atlanta, says that production in the South and Southwest has an immediate potentiality of $300,000,000 a year under proper organization. Those who have been in the leading Northern dairying States wonder why so much dairying is done in a section where cows have to be housed a great part of the year in close barns and fed on dry foods, when there is such a vast area in the south and southwest where there are rich pastures all the year round. The industry is coming this way rapidly.

Texan Buys Railroad

Frank Kell, of Wichita Falls, who builds railroads occasionally along with the numerous other things he does, and his associates have bought a railroad that extends from Joplin, Mo., to Helena, Ark., the line being valued at $11,000,000. The purchasers already held large investments in major securities of the company. Frank Kell and J. A. Kell and J. A. Kemp, his partner in most of the enterprises have been leaders in the building up of the Wichita Falls section of Texas, and they are still building. Texas owes much to men of such pluck.

Trail Drivers Dance

More than 400 members of the Old Trail Drivers' Association held a meeting in San Antonio recently to talk over the old times in Texas when they drove cattle to the North from Texas. When three old fiddlers 'tuned up' in the lobby of the Gunter Hotel, many of them jigged to the accompaniment of the fiddlers. What the dance may have lacked in artistic gracefulness was fully made up in enthusiasm and a good time was had by all present.

Santa Fe Building

The Santa Fe is doing some great work in Texas, now having under construction work from San Angelo to Sonora and from Alpine to Presidio. Other developments in the Southwest some of which await the permit of the I. C. C., will bring the total expenditures for early extensions to approximately $12,000,000.

Dimmitt County Prizes

Dimmitt county, in the heart of the Winter Garden District, took first, second and fourth prizes at the Texas State Fair this year on grapefruit; second, third and fourth prizes on oranges; and second, third and fourth on lemons; as well as first prize over all contenders on county displays. It begins to look like the Carrizo Springs paper, the Javellin, is well named to represent the county.

This is a good place to mention the fact that citrus fruit shipments from the Lower Rio Grande Valley have been about ten times more than to this date in any previous year.

Egg Plants and 'Cukes'

Carload shipments of egg plants

and cucumbers are being made from Laredo this season for the first time. The first cars were sent to St. Louis and New York by express. A large acreage is being grown in the Laredo section and the growers expect to take nice profits.

Potatoes Grown For Profit

A young farmer at Lytle planted seven acres in sweet potatoes in the fall of last year. He harvested them after Christmas and realized $700 an acre from the sales. The small potatoes left in the field came up in the spring and from these the young farmer sold potato slips to the amount of $300 an acre to other potato growers, thus realizing $1000 an acre. This shows what plenty of water applied to good soil will do under intelligent management accompanied by hard work.

Financing Dairymen

San Marcos business men have organized a financing corporation and will have $15,000 to loan to farmers for twelve months for the purchase of dairy cattle. The local banks will furnish the money and the finance corporation will guarantee its repayment. Luling business men attended the organization meeting and stated they would adopt a similar plan for the Luling section. A good idea will work as well in one place as another.

Heads Farm Press Group

Fletcher Davis, who edits the Hondo Anvil-Herald and Fletcher's Farmer and takes time off to head any other movement for the good of his country and state, will serve for the next year as president of Farm Press Writers' Association, an organization sponsored by A. & M. College. He gives most of his time to farm interests, anyway, and will not balk at the extra load placed on him, but will carry it well.

Heads Tax Savers

C. C. Hudson, editor of the Iowa Park Herald will head a Texas organization that will save money for the taxpayers of the State by cutting down operating expenses of the many departments of State and county governments. The newspaper men may not be the heaviest taxpayers, but from long experience they know how to cut down expenses, so the selection of friend Hudson is a good one. When Gov. Moody's State auditor, with the assistance of the two experts from the Federal Government and Mr. Hudson's organization, get busy seeing that officers and employees all give a day's work for a day's pay something worth while will likely happen in Texas.

Miss Aetna Smith Is Honor Guest At Brownsville Parties

(Brownsville Herald)

Miss Aetna Smith of Cameron, house guest of Mrs. Hilliard Smith, Jr., is being named honoree of numerous pretty social compliments, Mrs. A. D. Dickinson, Jr., entertaining with a bridge luncheon for her Thursday at the country club. Mrs. Frank Brown will be hostess Tuesday at the club, also complimenting the visitor.

Covers were laid for 50 luncheon

guests at tables in a cleverly developed color scheme of pink and green. Pink roses were combined with corona vine, and pink candles were an additional color note. Green and pink glassware was used for the luncheon service and a four-course menu was served.

In the card room bouquets of red roses and fern were used as decorations.

Four high prizes were awarded as bridge score favors to Miss Spivey, Mrs. Howard Cummins, Mrs. C. V. Hamilton and Mrs. W. C. Craig, Sr. Mrs. J. H. Green won low score prize and Mrs. Gordon Street was fortunate in the cut. Miss Smith received a Japanese candy box as guest remembrance.

Jeter Sold Much Of Material For Citizens Bank

Much of the material used in the construction of the Citizens National Bank just completed and occupied here was furnished by the Jeter Lumber Company. In the special section issued last week no mention was made of the contribution made by the Jeter Lumber Company to the completion of the new building. This was an oversight on the part of the publishers and we are glad to make this news mention of the fact that the Jeter Lumber yard had a large share in the completion of the building.

Into the construction of the bank building were placed the best materials that could be purchased and both the bank and yard are proud of the construction.

Junior League In Halloween Party

The Junior League of the Methodist church, under the direction of Mrs. Tom Lampkin, superintendent, enjoyed a Halloween party in the church parlors Saturday evening.

In the vestibule the guests were greeted by a witch who gave them an icy handshake by means of a rubber glove. This served as merely an introduction to the witches' chamber which proved to be a fortune telling booth. Each one had his fortune told and was given a love potion.

In the main room all kinds of Halloween games were played. Late in the evening the lights were turned out and in the faint glow of candle light which shed eerie shadows about, ghosts told shivery tales of their doings, and the guests were asked to touch remains of their victims, peeled grapes for the eyes and such like.

Refreshments consisted of sandwiches, weiners, oat meal cookies and soda pop. Assisting Mrs. Lampkin were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Walston, Mrs. John Olson, Mrs. Guy Pope, Mrs. R. B. Rylander and Miss Mollie Moore. Rev. P. T. Ramsey was a visitor.

Young Stafford Lyons Honored On Birthday

Young Stafford Lyons was honor guest last Saturday afternoon when his mother entertained in honor of his fourth birthday at the home of Mr. T. C. Stafford. Games were played and then the birthday cake was cut, with favors going to the lucky guests. The cake was iced in orange and had orange colored candles to carry out the Halloween motif. Ice cream cones were served with the cake.

Each guest was given a novelty Halloween hat, and then a flashlight picture was made of the group with the hats on. Additional favors were Felix Cat whistles.

Christian Endeavor Entertain Friday

Bats, witches, owls and cats formed true Halloween decorations for the parlors of the Presbyterian church last Friday evening, when members of the Christian Endeavor were entertained. There were the usual Halloween games for amusement, a witch who told fortunes, and a ghost who told ghost stories.

Refreshments were served consisting of yellow fruit punch and pimento sandwiches. Mrs. Graham Gillis, who sponsors the Christian Endeavor, was assisted in the entertaining by Miss Kathryn Robbins and Mrs. Geo. Cay.

Sherwin-Williams Has Greatest Year In Product Sales

Cleveland, Ohio, October 30.—Announcing that the fiscal year ending August 31st was the company's record year for sales, George A. Martin, President of the Sherwin-Williams Co., predicts a bright outlook for the current year. The Sherwin-Williams Co., is the world's largest producer of paints, varnishes and allied products.

Martin said that September and October sales were well ahead of the same months of 1928, the previous record year, and that indications are the company will continue to make new records.

Earnings for the year were $6,019,475, after all charges, as against $4,901,840 for the previous year. Total sales of $75,778,071 exceeded those of the previous year by $13,361,313.

In view of the company's strong position, the directors voted to increase the quarterly dividend on the common stock of $1 regular with 12½ cents extra, instead of the former 75 cents regular with 50 cents extra.

'The company has $6,500,000 cash and U. S. securities with no bank indebtedness, which is the strongest position in our history,' Martin said. 'Our business is so diversified as to markets that we have been able to continue to make new records from year to year.'

'September and October sales are well ahead of the same months a year ago, and I see nothing ahead that will cast any shadows on the current year for our company. I am optimistic over the outlook in all sections of the country and departments of the business.'

'Our good showing for the year was due largely to our big increase in total sales volume and to our wide diversification, together with production and distribution economies, rather than to any increased profits from the paint and varnish divisions.'

Mrs. Dan Collins Is Hostess At Bridge

Mrs. Dan Collins was hostess Friday afternoon to Ye Merry Wives Bridge Club, having as additional guests Mesdames Bassett Watson and Frank Plaster.

musement. Laurene Nairn received a box of raisins because she strung the most raisins in a minute. Bess Graham was given a black cat cut-out for getting the cat's tail at most nearly the right spot.

Jelly beans were matched for partners in the cake walk and in this Freeman Slocumb and Helen Dierr won the prize, a cake. A pumpkin relay was also a diversion.

Partners were again chosen, this time for refreshments, which consisted of sandwiches, cakes, fruit and soda pop.

HOUSEKEEPING is a delightful game at which every housewife can play with equal pleasure. The cost of using electric appliances today is so low that every one can enjoy their conveniences to the fullest.

A few years ago before inventive genius brought the magic of electric appliances to their aid, housewives worked from early morning until late at night—and their work was seldom finished. Then there were few pleasures for her, and she found little time to enter into them, and was too tired from her work to enjoy them.

Today electricity has made possible an entirely new life for the modern housewife. By the use of electric appliances she does her work in far less time, with less effort—in fact, she can do more work than ever before and feel the strain of doing it scarcely at all. Consequently she has the time and the strength to enjoy many new hours with her family. Modern times have brought her countless new pleasures and diversions. And electricity has made it possible for her to enjoy these things completely.

This Company, having pioneered in transmission line electric service in Texas, has exercised a rigid policy of selecting and offering for sale to its customers only the most efficient and most economical electric appliances made in this country. It is our aim now, as it has been for seventeen years, to give you the fullest measure of electric service possible for the least amount of cost to you.

LIONISM IS MAKER OF CIVIC HISTORY

SERVICE CLUB ORIGINATED BY MELVIN JONES IN CHICAGO FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

Lionism as the world knows it today originated in the mind of Melvin Jones of Chicago in the year 1914. He was a leader in a band of associated business clubs, and the inspiration came to him that the only way the clubs could accomplish anything in a large way was to form an association, national or international in scope.

In that year of 1914 Melvin Jones sent letters to all business luncheon clubs of the United States which were not affiliated with some central body asking their officers to consider such an association. The seed thus sown germinated but it was three years before the actual work of forming an association could be taken up.

It was in May 1917, that the Business Circle of Chicago, a gathering of business clubs of which Melvin Jones was secretary, issued a formal call for a meeting to consider a permanent association, national in scope.

That meeting was held in Chicago, June 7, 1917. About twenty delegates attended, representing more than fifty clubs. They met at the Hotel La Salle and adopted a resolution under which the International Association of Lions Clubs was organized, and a call issued for a national convention to be held at Dallas, Texas, October 9-11, 1917. It was, therefore, on June 7, 1917, that the International Association of Lions Clubs came into being.

Meantime, in the three years which had elapsed between the sending out of the first letter by Melvin Jones, and the formation of a national association, a number of individual clubs were organized, some under the name 'Lions' some under other names. In the summer of 1915 there was founded in San Antonio Texas, the first Lions Club. Lions Clubs were formed in Galveston, Houston, Dallas, Ft. Worth, Waco, Austin, Abilene, Greenville and San Angelo, Texas; Pueblo, Colo., Salt Lake City, Utah; Texarkana and Little Rock, Arkansas; Shreveport, La., and Memphis, Tenn.

At the first annual convention, held at Dallas on October 9-11, 1917, the formal organization of the association with accredited delegates in attendance, was completed. Dr. W. P. Woods of Evansville, Ind., was elected president. Melvin Jones of Chicago was elected secretary-treasurer, which office he has held continuously since.

The second annual convention was held at St. Louis, Mo., August 19-21, 1918. L. H. Lewis of Dallas, Texas, was elected president.

The third annual convention was held at Chicago, July 9-11, 1919. The association at this time had 42 clubs and 2364 members. The association adopted its 'Code of Ethics,' its 'Lions Club Objects,' and the slogan, 'Liberty Intelligence, Our Nation's Safety.' Jesse Robinson of Oakland, Calif., was elected president.

The fourth annual convention was held at Denver, July 13-16, 1920, with 6451 members representing by delegates from 113 clubs. Dr. C. C. Reid of Denver was elected president.

The fifth annual convention was held at Oakland, Calif., July 19-21, 1921. The clubs numbered 229, the members 13,789. Ewen W. Cameron of Minneapolis was elected president.

The sixth annual convention was held at Hot Springs, Ark., June 19-24, 1922. There were 498 clubs in the association with 26,742 members. Ed S. Vaught of Oklahoma City was elected president.

The seventh annual convention was held at Atlantic City, N. J., June 26-29, 1923. The clubs now numbered 634 the members 32,632. John S. Noel, Grand Rapids, Mich., was elected president.

The eighth annual convention was held at Omaha, Neb., June 23-26, 1924. There were 761 clubs with 36,943 members in the organization. Harry A. Newman of Toronto, Ont., was elected president.

The ninth annual convention was held at Cedar Point, Ohio, June 29-July 2, 1925. The clubs numbered 942 the members 43,919. Benjamin F. Jones of Newark, N. J., was elected president.

The tenth annual convention was held at San Francisco, July 21-24, 1926. There were then 1077 clubs with 48,363 members. William A. Westfall of Mason City, Iowa, was elected president.

The eleventh annual convention was held at Miami, Fla., June 15-18, 1927. The clubs numbered 1,178, the members 51,574. Irving L. Camp of Johnstown, Pa., was elected president and Des Moines, Iowa chosen as the 1928 convention city.

The twelfth annual convention was held at Des Moines, Iowa, July 10-13, 1928. There were at that time 1456 Yions Clubs with 59,459 aitive members. Ben A. Ruffin of Richmond, Va., who for a year had been first vice-president, was elected to the presidency.

The thirteenth annual convention was held at Louisville, Ky., on June 18-21, 1929. The year had been notable for the rapid growth of Lionism, the number of clubs having increased to 1852 and the active membership to 68,859.

Ray L. Riley of Sacramento, controller of the State of California, was elected president. Other officers elected were Earle W. Hodges of New York City, first vice-president; Julian C. Hyer of Fort Worth, Texas, second vice-president; Robert L. McKeever of Washington D. C., third vice-president; Melvin Jones of Chicago remaining as secretary-treasurer.

A change was made in the constitution pertaining to the election of a Canadian member to the board of directors. The choice for this place fell upon Jack W. Connell of Toronto, Ont. Other directors elected were Joseph B. Adams of Chicago; Roderick Bewdow of Birmingham, Ala., and A. William Yungstrom of Elmira, N. Y.

Directors remaining in office from previous years were Vincent C. Hascall of Omaha, Charles H. Hatton of Wichita, Kans., C. H. Jameson of Tulsa, Okla., Dr. M. M. Neilson of Salt Lake City, G. H. Hastings of Winston-Salem, N. C., and Horace S. Kerr of Columbus, Ohio.

William S. Hewlett of Bridgeport, Conn., was elected chairman of the board of governors, and Philip O. Viall of Webster Groves, Mo., vice-chairman.

The convention voted to hold its 1930 convention at Denver, Colo., June 15-18.

paid their debt to the Whites last Friday evening with a Halloween party on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Newton. With a big bonfire on the lawn and the electric lights covered with magic lanterns in the yard, a wierd effect was produced as this subdued light shone on the spooky decorations, the most ghostly among them being a number of cow and horse skulls that grinned at the guests. The house was darkened and the guests were told to walk through to the back and when attempting to do this they found the path full of stumbling blocks. Two fortune tellers' booths were arranged on the grounds and after a jolly evening playing games the 'witches brew' (chili) was served from the caldron that hung from three sticks over a fire. Crackers were served with the

WE THANK YOU

We sincerely appreciate the expression of good will and congratulations on the occasion of the formal opening of our new building on Thursday, October 24, 1929.

The people were generous in attending the reception. Thousands came to see the new building and to express their interest in the growth and development of this bank.

We are indebted to the people for their faith in this bank through the years and as we begin a new era of service the interest expressed on this occasion warms us and gives us a new conception of our obligations to this fine public esteem.

We count public esteem our greatest asset and this occasion was a manifestation of public interest we cannot measure in material values. Such interest as this touches the finer things in all of us and our response will be a greater devotion to your interests, more helpful financial counsel and a banking service commensurate with the position we hold.

The flowers sent by patrons, friends in business and others were expressions of interest and good will we very much appreciate and to one and all we extend our heartfelt thanks.

The formal opening and reception was an occasion for the first public inspection of our new building for the people in general. We want you to know that the hospitality shown you on this occasion is an every day policy with us and we want you to visit us often and learn more about the service we render as a bank for everybody.

has a place for his paid checks, accessible on demand.

After inspecting the book vault, Philip Reid, Assistant Cashier, showed the customers the massive cash and safety deposit vault where the money of the bank is kept.

Miss Ruby Lengert, secretary of the bank, received the customers and explained the bookkeeping of the safety deposit boxes for customer's use and stated that they required two keys to unlock, one carried by the customer and one by the bank. Each time a customer unlocks his box, it is necessary for him to sign, giving the date of entry. $5,000.00 in burglar and daylight holdup insurance is carried against each of these boxes.

The electric burglar alarm that is so delicate that even sound waves from clapping the hands set it off was demonstrated to the customers throughout the evening, and many allowed to throw the alarm themselves.

The time clocks by which the vault is locked at night and cannot be opened until the clocks run down, were of special interest to the visitors.

The massive ten ton steel door, guarding the vault, was of interest to the customers. This door is so delicately balanced that a small child can open and close it with one hand.

In the exchange department the machine that writes and protects checks from alteration was demonstrated by Mrs. Nannie Bodiford.

At the door, the customers came to a large punch bowl, presided over by Miss Mary Lake Henderson, assisted by Ted Harris and Misses Cora Barmore, Nancy Rae Slocumb, Billy Gaither, Ethel Mondrik, Bonnelle Neinst, Juanita Smith and Cecelia Hibner.

The flood lights of the bank that light the building on the outside from top to bottom were turned on at 7:30 o'clock. These lights resemble a tall street lamp with 1000 candle power light on one side of the reflector and 200 candle power light on the other side of the reflector. These two lights are erected on either side of the building and flood the entire building with light. The Texas Power & Light Company is very much interested in the success of these lights as this is the first time that this method of flood lighting has been used in Texas. The local manager was instructed to take a picture of the Citizens National Bank with flood lights on for the use of the company's engineers.

About fifty baskets of flowers decorated the bank, two of these baskets were from New York banks, one from St. Louis. One basket of flowers attracted particular attention because it was from the State of Maine. The flowers are called Japanese Lanterns, a flower that does not shed and stays pretty all winter. It dry up but retains its beauty.

The balcony was decorated with ferns from behind which Guy Draper's Orchestra from Waco furnished music for the entertainment.

Some of the out of town guests at the opening of the bank were:

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lee Davis of Waco, Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Lacy, president of the Citizens National Bank of Waco, Mr. Earl B. Stallings, cashier of the South Texas Commercial National Bank of Houston, F. F. Downs, president of First National Bank of Temple, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Thomas, president of the First National Bank of Rogers, Mr. Chas. A. Davis, cashier of the First National Bank of Thorndale, Claud Eads, assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Thorndale, J. Edwin Brown, president of the First National Bank of McGregor, Ewing Norwood, president of the First National Bank of Navasota, Louis S. Pierce, director of the Citizens National Bank of Navasota, G. Milton McGregor and T. M. Williams of the Lee County State Bank of Lexington, Mr. Childers and Betts, representing the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, Mr. H. H. Camp, president of the Rockdale State Bank, T. B. Ryan, assistant cashier of the Rockdale State Bank, C. E. Prewitt, E. Lengert, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Camp, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Seibert of Rockdale, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Buckley and Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Stanford of Lorena, Mr. J. A. Tarver, president of the Planters National Bank of Rosebud, Dave Wilson and Hugh Looney of Bryan, and Mr. Wm. Schmidt of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York.

The streets for one block each way from the Citizens National Bank were roped off, the town full of cars and the roped off space full of people waiting their turn to be admitted into the bank and shown through. Never before was such a crowd seen in Cameron for any similar event. It was estimated that between 3000 and 4000 people came to this opening. The bank served 80 gallons of punch and used 2300 individual paper cups and almost 20,000 cakes. The night was a little cool and not over half of the people accepted the punch.

Congratulatory messages were received from banks all over the United States and WFAA at 9:00 o'clock broadcast its felicitations but the radio installed in the lobby of the bank could not be heard above the voices of the many guests. Numerous friends however, over the city, heard the congratulations of this broadcasting station and the bank has since received letters from other people who happened to be listening in, among them the president of the Hibernia Bank and Trust Company of New Orleans and the vice-president of the Whitney-Central of New Orleans and others letting us know that Cameron was on the map and on strong at that time.

Lions Hear Pastor Of Christian Church

The Cameron Lions convened at their regular luncheon hour Tuesday noon at the Methodist church with 29 members and two visitors present. W. M. Ratcliff of Fort Worth, representative of the Texas-Louisiana Power Company and guest of W. J. Watson, was a most pleasant guest. Rev. Joel B. Hardigree of the local First Christian church who attended at the request of Rev. E. S. Hutcherson, chairman of the program, gave a very interesting talk on 'Making Money.'

Rev. Hardigree introduced his discussion by the old theory that it was thought sinful to make and acquire wealth, but stated that today that idea was greatly changed. Mr. Har-digree believes that if a man has the ability and brains to obtain money rightfully, it is sinful for him to shirk his duty of doing so. To earn wealth requires man's best thinking and talent. Money should be earned rightfully and spent for community betterment and for the welfare of humanity.

Lion members present enjoyed the lecture very much and look forward to the occasion of having the Rev. Hardigree back in their midst.

Chairman Hutcherson of the finance committee read the budget that has been worked out for the year's program, and it was adopted with one change necessary. It was decided to allow $200 instead of only $100 for the Cameron Lion selected to attend the International Lion Convention that takes place once yearly.

Frances Terry Is Hostess To Friends

Another Halloween party taking place this week occurred Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Bob Terry entertained at her home for her daughter, Frances, inviting a number of girls from the fourth grade at the Ada Henderson school.

The guests were received at the door by the honor guest and Vivian Whites, who were spookily dressed in ghost costumes. Everyone came in Halloween attire. The house was decorated with various novelty cutouts carrying out the chosen motif, and the lights were colored with orange shades.

A fortune wheel, apple bobbing, and other such amusements formed diversions. Late in the afternoon orange ice and hobgoblin cookies were served the guests.

Majestic RADIO

Licensed under patents and applications of R. C. A. and R. F. L., also by Lektiphone, Lowell & Dunmore and Hogan License Associates.

Nearly TWO MILLION People CAN'T Be Wrong--

and MAJESTIC Still Makes and Sells 6,000 Radio Sets Daily

Today from nearly every newspaper page you are being shouted at to "watch your step" in buying a radio set, to "look for this" or "look for that." You are being implored to "buy a strictly modern radio." You are being told that "no radio but the famous Gazookis is up to the minute, because it has the new blah, blah, blah—something that no other radio manufacturer can equal.

There is nothing to get excited about. It is so simple to buy a good radio set today, if you look for only two things, which your own mind and your own ears are fully capable of deciding. First, the performance (tone quality), and secondly, is the reputation of the manufacturer sufficient to guarantee that your investment is safe and permanent.

Majestic has always said, "You cannot buy a better radio set than Majestic at any price." We rest our case on that statement. You are the judge. We do not need to tell you that Majestic can make any sort of set, and can manufacture and use in that set, any type of tubes that are known in the radio world. Majestic has access to all the patents, has all the manufacturing facilities, has all the financial resources necessary to do the job.

Majestic is making the kind of sets that are being produced today because, point for point, we know "You can't buy a better radio set than Majestic at any price." If you hear a Majestic, if you listen to its colorful tone, its faithful reproduction, if you examine its sturdy construction, its oversize power pack, its beautiful blended cabinet woods, and compare these points in a side by side test with any other set on the market at any price, then you'll buy a Majestic.

May we remind you, with modest pride, that there are nearly two million happy owners of Majestics today. Two million owners in 17 months—think of it.
